FAILED KIDNEY TRANSPLANT PUTS OGMORE VALE SCHOOL-GIRL BACK ON DIALYSIS...

Summer (8) inspires her mum's 10k charity run

AT the age of 14 months, Summer Kansiray from Ogmores Vale was diagnosed with a Wilms' tumour, a rare type of cancer, in her left kidney.

She endured six months of treatment at Cardiff's University Hospital of Wales, before having the organ removed in a bid to eliminate the cancer. Unfortunately, Summer then relapsed and the cancer returned in her right kidney six weeks later, which also had to be taken out. Summer then spent over two and a half years on a dialysis machine at home, which carried out the function the kidneys would have played. She received treatment for up to 14 hours every night, and was only allowed to drink 240ml of water every 24 hours.

In 2012, when she was four years old, Summer and her mother Joanne received the news they had been waiting for – an organ was available for Summer and she received a kidney transplant.

Shortly after the kidney transplant operation, doctors noticed that Summer's body was fighting to reject the foreign kidney and advised that the four-year-old begin taking immunosuppressive medication, to help prevent her body from rejecting the new kidney any further.

After months of treatment in hospital, Summer was finally discharged and was sent home to recover with her family.

However, in August 2015, Summer's transplanted organ unexpectedly failed, and now at the age of eight, Summer is back on dialysis once again. She is currently receiving peritoneal dialysis treatment, which her mother, Joanne carries out for her at home for 11 hours, seven nights a week.

Summer is now waiting patiently to go back onto the waiting list and the search for a donor continues.

Centenary celebrations for local resident Linda

AS the nation marks 100 years since the Battle of the Somme, a great grandmother from Nottage is celebrating her own centenary.

Born on July 5, 1916, just days after the First World War's biggest battle began on the Western Front, Linda Saunders (née Howell) is one of Bridgend's oldest residents.

Joining her on the day was the Mayor of Bridgend county borough, Coun Reg Jenkins.

As the war waged in the trenches and at sea, Linda was born in Nottage to Ethel and Thomas Howell – a milkman who leased fields for his herd.

'WESTMINSTER IS TO BLAME'

IN last week's letters page, B Hall asked the young people of Wales to consider the economies of Greece and Spain when reflecting on the benefits of EU membership.

It's revealing, however, that he fails to mention the many success stories of northern Europe – such as Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Ireland, Finland, the Netherlands and Belgium: countries and economies that are far more similar to our own.

This is a typical Brexit tactic – using partial information, and blaming all of our ills, house prices, low and unequal wages, zero-hour contracts – on the EU. But surely, after a little consideration, the real culprit is actually the Westminster system. As we know, Wales was the first industrialised country in the world. For many decades, we were one of the biggest exporters across the globe. But Wales did not get wealthy. Being part of the over-centralised UK system meant the money flowed to London and the south-east of England.

Then came the pit closures. Did Westminster come to our aid? No. Very little was put in place to assist the mining communities, and the resultant poverty persists to this day.

Successful Labour and Tory Governments have also steadfastly refused to scrap the unjust Barnett formula, a system that systematically underfunds Wales while overfunding the less compliant Scots.

Despite being just two hours from one of the richest cities in the world, the Westminster system has historically allowed Wales to languish as one of the poorest parts of Europe.

Perhaps we need to think a little differently and follow the lead of the many smaller EU member states that have strong stable economies and more equitable wealth distribution.

We should move away from the unjust and outdated Westminster politics and aim for Wales to become an outward looking, modern, individual member state of the EU.

Claire Evans, Porthcawl.

'Let's knuckle down and get on with it..!'

AT the last general election, people voted the Conservatives in and David Cameron was to continue to be our Prime Minister.

It was in their party's manifesto to hold a referendum for the people of our country to cast their democratic vote on whether to stay or leave the EU.

He did what he said he would do, and what the country wanted him to do, and now it's done and there's a clear Brexit vote, the country now has to work through the difficulties that were predicted prior to this outcome.

Personal losses will be felt, but the rich will survive – this will always be the case – and the poor and working classes will always be the victims.

The Brexit vote has divided the country, but equally so a remain vote would have done.

If we weren't given the referendum as promised, that would be criminal. So with democracy comes divided opinions – that's what it's all about – our freedom to vote as we see fit.

The people have spoken, fair and square, whatever your view – to be in or out – Brexit was the people's choice.

In the words of Andrew R T Davies AM when he spoke about the centenary of World War One: "We remember all those who have fallen, our courageous heroes who served our country, defended our freedoms and risked their lives to protect us and keep us safe."

So let us not forget!

To those who blame the older generation for ruining the country through the Brexit vote, that is outrageous. If it wasn't for them, we probably wouldn't have a democracy now.

So let's do what our heroes did, knuckle down and get on with it! T Abery, Barry.

Rotary Club's new president keyed up

DR Bob Broughton has replaced Alan Reeks as president of The Rotary Club of Bridgend for 2016-17.

The handover took place on Monday, July 4.

The incoming president promised to promote the 'Objects of Rotary' by encouraging and fostering the ideal of service in the development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service; by fostering high ethical standards in business and professions and dignifying each Rotarian's occupation as an opportunity to serve society and to advance international understanding, goodwill and peace through a world fellowship of persons united in the ideal of service.

In handing over the presidency, Mr Reeks said: "It has been a privilege and a joy to represent the club over the past year. Much good work has been achieved and many thousands of pounds raised and distributed to local charities."

He expressed his sincere thanks to the chairs and members of his committees for all their hard work and also to their families of members for their support given during the year.

The new president, Dr Broughton, thanked his predecessors and expressed his wish to emulate the excellent work achieved during the past year and looked forward to working with his new team.

He said: "We have all been given a year to make changes to advance Rotary within our sphere of influence and to attract new members by making changes that will meet the needs of the young business and professional people we hope to recruit, to further the development of the ideal of service."

In his final act as president, Mr Reeks presented the Harvey

HIGH TIDE TIMES

(UNTIL JULY 21)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary.

For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 – 25 minutes later.

Illegal arrivals

IWOULD like to point out a glaring discrepancy in the assertion made by your correspondent D Harris in his letter, who seems to blame the EU for pressures put on our services by "vast numbers of people illegally arriving here."

It seems he has not realised that people arriving illegally, in any numbers, will continue to arrive, or not arrive – regardless of Britain's membership of the EU – precisely because they are illegal arrivals!

Porthcawl man (77) publishes two novels!

by PHILIP IRWIN

THERE are plenty of people who talk about 'writing that novel' when they retire – and then find it's not so easy – but David Lewis of Porthcawl has shown what can be done, by publishing two books – at the age of 77!

David retired in 2001 after a lifetime in the construction business, and it was his wife Carol who told him that he should draw on his fund of stories – and put it all in a book.

Carol's advice eventually hit home, and after enrolling in a writing course, it was in 2006 that he made a start. However, he had two stories in his head – in two different genres – and he could not decide, so he went ahead and wrote both!

There have been plenty of trials and tribulations over the last 10 years, with publishers raising hopes and then the disappointment of a rejection note, but now the two books are out, and are available from Amazon Kindle.

From Dingle With Love tells the story of a young Irishman who grows up in an isolated part of the republic, and who then goes to work in England.

The plot interweaves his colourful love life, and his rise in the business world, before taking a sudden twist into thriller territory.

David Lewis with his two recently-published novels.

With the second book, entitled The Omega Conspiracy, you know you are in the world of international crime, terrorism and Middle Eastern politics right from the start.

Given the Ludlum-esque three-word title, you know you are entering a world of heartless killers, revenge, and shadowy forces that are plotting in the background.

David said: "This is an uncompromising tale, and is quite grisly in parts."

He added that the inspiration for this story had been his own father's tales of being a 14-year-old cabin boy on a tramp steamer.

The Arab stokers on the boat had their own fund of stories, and both his father and David retained a keen interest in the Arab world.

David was born in Splott, Cardiff and is quite proud that he shares this distinction with the BBC radio and TV journalist, John Humphrys. In fact, David's sister-in-law worked in the same newspaper office when the BBC presenter was a young reporter.

David's father, however, made the decision to take his one-year-old son away from Cardiff in 1940. You might think it was to avoid the bombing, but as he chose to relocate to Liverpool, that clearly wasn't the reason.

David told The GEM: "I left school with one GCE – in geography – although I did add GCEs in maths and English as part of my training when I joined the construction industry."

He started as a 16-year-old junior engineer on a power station project, and he was mentored by a rugged Irishman who soon "knocked him into shape".

That was the start of a career where David worked in many different places. However, when he met and married Carol, they chose to live in Porthcawl – and have now been here for 53 years.

They have lived in a number of houses within the town, but have never been tempted to leave.

As David progressed in the construction industry, he was able to work at a senior level on projects closer to home.

The road widening on the M4 at the Brynglas Tunnel was one, and he was also involved in the early stages of the construction of the ever-growing Celtic Manor.

A man with a strong work ethic? Most certainly, as is proved by the fact that David has started work on a third novel!

BRIDGEND GRADUATE ZOE HELPS BRING THE WELSH DRAGON TO LIFE!

Zoe Lane, in white, with the dragon.

A GRADUATE from Bridgend has helped bring the Welsh dragon to life for a stunning advert promoting the castles of Wales.

Zoe Arabelle Lane (24), is a member of the team assembled at the University of South Wales (USW) that has been working on a summer advert for Cadw, the Welsh Government's historic environment service.

Computer graphics and 3D art specialist, Zoe – a former pupil of Bryntirion Comprehensive School, who has a first class honours degree and masters in computer animation from USW – got involved in creating the dragon's 'body' after USW experts were tasked with bringing the mythical animal to life after a model of its head and front claws went on show at Caerphilly Castle earlier this year.

In the advert, the dragon emerges from the ground and then flies across Wales – starting in Caerphilly, then flying over Chepstow Castle, Cardiff Bay, Harlech Castle, and then finally landing at Caernarfon Castle. USW was approached after Cadw officials saw a video made at the institution which mimics a scene from Jurassic Park – in which a T Rex smashes through the windows of the University's Atrium Campus in Cardiff.

For Zoe, it's been an exciting project to be involved in – and one that will showcase her creative talents: "I was responsible for creating the rest of the dragon for use in the film – there were some rough sketches given to me to base my work on, and the pieces emerging from the ground at Caerphilly Castle," she said.

"This involved modelling the dragon, putting it together on the screen, texturing its skin so it looked as lifelike as it possibly could, and then working on the shading to give it an even more realistic feel. Then I was involved with the rest of the team on getting the finished film together."

Classic car show to be held in Bridgend

DOZENS of vintage vehicles will be on display at a 'Classic Car Show' in Bridgend town centre on Sunday, July 24 from 10am to 4pm, organised by Bridgend County Borough Council in partnership with the Glamorgan Classic Car Club.

It will include cars from the 50s, 60s and 70s such as MGs, Fords, Rovers and Jaguars, as well as Harley Davidson and Honda Goldwing motorbikes and two LGV tractors, while families will also be able to enjoy a close look at a modern fire engine and police cars.

Prizes, sponsored by the Bridgend Indoor Market, will be given to the best car in show and the best motorbike in show, and there will also be a series of funfair rides set up in Wyndham Street.

Coun Charles Smith, BCBC's cabinet member for regeneration and economic development, said: "There will be well over 60 cars on display at this event, which will bring plenty of colour and fun to the town centre."

He also confirmed that building work for the new Rhiw development in Bridgend town centre is progressing well, adding: "The multi-storey car park element of the work is on track to be completed later this year, while it is expected that the apartments and commercial unit will be finished in spring 2017."

Funded by Coastal Housing Group, BCBC and the Welsh Government, under its Vibrant and Viable Places programme, the Rhiw development is "one of the most significant projects ever worked on in the town".

Coun Smith added: "This project will make a major contribution to Bridgend. Not only is the old crumbling car park being replaced by a modern facility fit for modern shoppers' needs, but we're also creating a community of people living in the heart of the town centre, which will in turn help to boost trade and support the local economy."

'Support the Urdd eisteddfod' local businesses are urged

BRIDGEND AM and First Minister, Carwyn Jones, joined organisers of the 2017 Urdd eisteddfod, to be held in Pencoed, to raise awareness of how local businesses can get involved and support it.

The Urdd eisteddfod is one of Europe's largest youth touring festivals and regularly attracts more than 15,000 children and young people. It will be held at Bridgend College's Pencoed campus between May 29 and June 3.

Business representatives heard about how they can get involved, the benefits that the Urdd can bring to the local economy and about corporate sponsorship packages on offer.

Mr Jones said: "I am really looking forward to welcoming the Urdd eisteddfod to the area next year."

"This will be an important event and it will be a huge boost to the area and to the local economy."

"With so many visitors coming to our community, I hope that businesses get on board and see the potential for getting involved with the Urdd eisteddfod".

Local organist Scott Williams is the man for 'special venue'

BRIDGEND Male Choir is proud to be able to call on the services of Brackla organist Scott Williams, whenever a concert venue has a suitable instrument.

Scott first performed with the choir in 2008. Recent highlights include playing at Wells Cathedral and singing with the choristers at the Principality Stadium, when Wales played France, just to show he can do that as well! He also features on the choir's recent CD, #Sounds Like.

Scott's next turnout with the Bridgend choristers will be at its annual concert on September 9 at Tabernacl Welsh Congregational Church, Bridgend, his ninth consecutive annual appearance since making his debut under the late John Jenkins.

There are other appearances in the autumn before Scott accompanies the choir to Ireland in October to join in the music making at Dublin's St Patrick's Cathedral and St Stephen's Church, as well as at St Peter's Church, Drogheda.

Scott's dad, Dennis, is a stalwart of the tenor section at Bridgend Male Choir.

Four in ten cancer cases could be prevented, LEARNS MP

WHEN Elmore MP for Ogmore campaigns and nurses from the Cancer Research charity's Cancer Awareness Roadshow, he learned that more than four in ten cancer cases in the UK could be prevented each year, with smoking and obesity being the biggest avoidable causes of the disease.

He said: "But while the dangers of smoking are well known, many are unaware of the link between obesity and cancer. This is particularly concerning when around six in 10 (59 per cent) people in Wales are currently overweight or obese. "We've come such a long way in the fight against cancer, it's shocking to hear that so many cases in Ogmore, and across the country, could be prevented. "The numbers make it clear we need to act now to help people to make positive lifestyle changes, such as becoming more active and maintaining a healthy weight.

"While there are no guarantees against the disease, I want to do everything I can to help my constituents, and their families stack the odds in their favour and lead long and healthy lives."

The launch of Cancer Research UK's new 'Junk Free TV' campaign aims to help address children's obesity. It calls for the removal of junk food adverts on TV before the 9pm watershed, to help reduce the impact of this negative influence over children's food choices.

Alison Cox, director of Cancer Prevention at Cancer Research UK, said: "There are a lot of things working against us when it comes to making healthier choices. We're all bombarded by advertising of junk foods packed with extra calories and this leads kids to pester their parents to buy unhealthy food for them."

'Gut feeling' by midwife saves baby boy's life

MEMBERS of a local family have paid tribute to the midwife they call their 'guardian angel'.

"She is the reason I have my son today, I will never be able to thank her enough," said mum Liz Watkins.

She and her husband Dale, mother, grandmother and aunt were so determined that Angie Hopkin receive recognition for the care she provided when Liz was in labour that they all nominated her for a patient choice award.

The awards are designed to give patients a chance to say thanks to any member of ABMU staff that they feel has provided outstanding support and treatment.

Angie, a sister working at Princess of Wales Hospital, was reunited with the Watkins family – and baby Konnor, who is now nearly eight months old, at a ceremony to congratulate winners held at Neath Port Talbot Hospital.

Liz, of Sandfields, developed problems when she was 41 weeks pregnant and Angie realised the unborn baby was in distress and would need to be delivered by emergency caesarean.

Dale said: "She followed her gut instinct and called for the doctors to get my wife into theatre. If it was five minutes later, he wouldn't have survived."

The family said they were particularly grateful that Angie had stayed with them during the operation and explained what was going on.

Lorraine White said: "In her eyes, she was just doing her job – but in my eyes, she is the reason my grandson is here in my arms today."

Presenting the awards ABMU Vice-Chairman Charles Janczewski said: "It is a pleasure to recognise staff who go that extra mile to provide that service to patients.

"You live our values every day and I commend and congratulate you for it."

HOSPITALS' CHARITY FUN RUN

Congratulations to Lisa Phillips, her colleagues from AMBU and members of Port Talbot Harriers, who raised £1,500 for Maggie's Centre in Swansea.

Epilepsy specialist nurse Lisa organised a run which took participants from Princess of Wales Hospital in Bridgend to Neath Port Talbot Hospital and on to Singleton Hospital in Swansea, before crossing the finish line at Maggie's.

The idea was that runners could choose where they joined the event, as long as they all finished together at the centre, where Maggie's staff were hosting their summer fete.

Some of them managed the whole 26.3 miles; Lisa clocked up 21 miles while the rest of the runners did a relay, some covering 10 miles, some 16.

Lisa said: "The Port Talbot Harriers were immense, also I'd like to thank Mikey and Mike Brain and my colleagues from across AMBU – Alan Roberts, Scott Williams, Ruth Gates and her husband Jonathan and school nurse Cath Courts.

"Our target was only £500 but the money is still coming in."

'60 per cent of people in Bridgend may have type 2 diabetes'

STATISTICS released by Diabetes UK Cymru suggest that 100 out of 168 people in Bridgend could be at risk of developing type 2 diabetes.

The figure – approximately 60 per cent of those who were tested – followed the charity's 'Know Your Risk' roadshow in Bridgend on July 5 and 6.

These figures are, according to the charity, a cause for grave concern as there are already an estimated 8,800 people diagnosed with type 2 diabetes in Bridgend county.

In Wales, there are an estimated 165,000 people living with type 2 diabetes, as well as an estimated 59,000 who have type 2 diabetes but do not know it, as they have not yet been diagnosed.

A dietician was at the roadshow to give advice about eating healthily.

Local WI meeting

THE president Sandra Davidson welcomed everyone and secretary Sue Elworthy read the minutes of last month's meeting.

A quiz team will be entered for the GFWI quiz night on September 13; as Link hosts for 2016-2017 the Christmas carol service will be held in St Crallo's Church; suggestions and ideas requested to be put forward for our 100th anniversary celebrations in 2018; it was agreed to support the Christmas tree festival to be held in Margam Park Orangerie on November 30.

Tickets for the charity evening on September 21 in aid of the local branch of the Multiple Sclerosis Society are available, priced £10; to include a two course meal with entertainment by Red Addiction.

Everyone is welcome. We were then entertained by our guest speaker, Esme Woods, as she read and relayed various amusing tales, poems and ditties.

For further details on events, contact Sandra Davidson on 01656 669232.

We do not hold a meeting in August and resume on September 6, when guests and prospective new members are welcome to come along.

Call for town's ambulance cover to be improved

UKIP regional AM for South Wales West, Caroline Jones, is calling for ambulance cover in Porthcawl to be improved.

She reported that in one recent case, it took paramedics 20 minutes to arrive at the scene of a head injury in John Street.

She said: "It is unbelievable that a town with a population of around 18,000, which rises considerably in the summer, does not have a fully-fledged ambulance service."

She added: "Paramedics usually have to come from Bryncthelin to deal with Porthcawl incidents."

Ms Jones believes that Porthcawl, as a leading seaside resort, should be better catered-for by emergency services and said she will be raising the matter with the authorities.

My first week as the new boy in Parliament

by Chris Elmore, MP for Ogmore

I WISH to thank all residents who chose to elect me as their MP on May 5, there is no greater privilege than to represent the many communities that make up the Ogmore Constituency in Parliament.

To those who did not vote for me or didn't vote at all, I hope in the months and years ahead to earn your support and trust.

The process that follows after being elected an MP can be confusing, challenging and frustrating. Simple things can become incredibly complicated and despite any MP's eagerness to get on with representing their constituents, the administrative processes, the reliance on IT systems and complexity of learning the ways of the House of Commons can, in the first few weeks, hinder your goal of serving your constituents immediately following your election.

I am exceedingly grateful to the House of Commons staff and my team based in my constituency office in Pencoed, who have helped me in recent weeks meet the challenges of being a new MP.

Two significant events have dominated both the media and indeed many of my constituents' minds since my election just nine weeks ago; firstly, the European Referendum campaign with the electorate's decision to vote Leave.

The debate around the UK's membership of the European Union has dominated headlines and been part of political debate for in excess of 30 years.

I must be honest by making clear I campaigned and voted to Remain in the EU, because I believe we achieve more by being at the negotiating table than not.

However, as a democrat, a decision has been made and no matter what my personal view, it is my job as MP for Ogmore, to make sure that the communities that make up Ogmore now get a fair deal as part of the negotiations that both the UK and Welsh Governments will undertake.

The death of my friend and fellow MP, Jo Cox, will haunt my thoughts for many years to come. Her life and legacy will live on in every person that knew her and in her children who will now be without their mother. Jo was a humanitarian, wife, campaigner, mum and, of course, an MP, who died doing the job she loved and standing up for what she believed in.

I would like to thank most sincerely the many constituents who have contacted me to pass on their condolences to both myself and Jo's family. I and they appreciate it enormously.

I hope to explore and expand on my work in Parliament in future columns and perhaps I open the door slightly on the customs and practices of the Palace of Westminster, from the view of a new MP.

Locally, I am holding weekly surgeries across the constituency. If unable to attend and constituents need help or advice on any issues, they can contact me on 01656 86 00 34; email Chris.Elmore.MP@Parliament.uk.

Book to chronicle a changing Colwinston

COLWINSTON Community Council announced on July 5, it was granted £3,200 from the Heritage Lottery Fund for a book entitled 'A Changing Village'.

The project is intended to show the village and its residents how to recreate some of the history of the village as seen through the eyes of the older generation.

The story will continue up to the present and the continuing residential development.

Colwinston, a rural village, has had a long history, which can be traced back almost as far as the Bronze Age – witness the hoard of Bronze Age axe heads found recently, and with the old Roman road (A48) running along the northern boundary adding that aspect to its history.

Work on the book will start immediately using current photographs of their homes submitted by villagers, together with the memories of the village's past as seen through the eyes of longer-term residents.

Volunteers of all ages are invited to join the team that will conduct interviews and assist in the book's compilation.

It is hoped that the end result, next year, will be a book which, thanks to the grant from the HLF, will ensure a free copy can be made available to all residents of Colwinston.

Commenting on the award, Geoff Bates, the Colwinston Community Council chairman, said: "We are delighted to have received the support of the HLF and are confident the project will produce a fascinating and personal record of past and present life in this rural community."

AS family portraits go, five generations in one snap is a rarity.

The Quinn family, hailing from the Vale – and areas north, south, east and west – has a combined age of 233 years – and one month. The recent birth of young Reuben meant capturing this family moment for posterity was an absolute must.

The portrait shows (from left) Betsy (96), her son Patrick (69), his daughter Rachel (44), her daughter Lauren (24) and one month old son, Reuben.

Patrick is a resident of Barry Island. Betsy lives in a flat with care facilities in Llanishen Cardiff.

Rachel is not far away at Talbot Green and Rachel lives in Llanharan.

Patrick explained: "Reuben is my mother's great great grandson. She has enjoyed holidays abroad, including travelling to Australia at the age of 85 to visit my brother, until her later years."

Now Betsy is looking forward to rather shorter, local trips to keep an eye on Reuben's progress.

The latest news from Laleston WI

OUR July 7 meeting was taken by president Dawn Storie, who welcomed everyone. The minutes of our previous meeting were read and agreed.

All members who attended the mid-summer dinner and musical evening on June 28, at The Orangery, Margam, agreed it was a superb evening.

With a chance to dress up, an excellent meal, fantastic entertainment and over 200 lovely WI ladies, it was always going to be a good night.

The trips to Tyntesfield House and Picton Castle in August are eagerly anticipated.

Our guest speaker Deborah John with her monologue 'The Edwardian Maid' gave us all an amusing insight into 'the big house'. We look forward to her next instalment. A vote of thanks was given by Ann Rees.

Laleston WI will be holding an afternoon tea in Blandy Hall, between 2pm-4pm on August 6 and with raffle and tombola. Please come along and join us. Entry by ticket and please contact number below for further details.

There will be no luncheon club or book club during the August break.

The evening's raffle was won by Betty Rastin and the competition by Betty Hart.

Our next meeting will be held on September 1 at 7.15pm in Blandy Hall (Laleston Gardening Club) and we will be holding a 'Harvest Auction'. New members are always welcome; why not come and join us? For further information, call Diane on 01656 656600.

St John's Church fayre in Newton Porthcawl says: 'Let us entertain you'

On Saturday, July 9, St John's Church in Newton, Porthcawl, hosted its traditional village green fayre with stalls, games, refreshments and lots of entertainment. This year's raffle had a first prize of £100.

As you can see from Frank Shipton's images of the day, the entertainers were more than happy to let the younger generation get in on the act!

Vicky wins the 'Italia Bombshell' title and now plans to campaign for national charity foundation

by GEM REPORTER

A Barry woman who recently won the 'Italia Bombshell' pageant title is using the award as a means of publicising a cause close to her heart.

Vicky Lang (32) a mum-of-two with Italian ancestry through her father, landed the title at a glamorous event in Derby in April.

Later this year she will take part in the Miss International Bombshell competition in Gibraltar. The Bombshell event doesn't have some of the restrictions placed on competitors in other pageants relating to age, motherhood, height, or dress size.

Vicky, who has survived three brain tumours, is now keen to publicise the work of the Maria Hanson Foundation whose mission is 'to make special memories for families with uncertain futures'.

Vicky said: "The foundation is celebrating its 10th anniversary and helps terminally ill children to go on holiday. It is also helping war veterans."

At the age of just 20 Vicky had to contend with two huge challenges: being the wife of a soldier sent to Iraq and suffering serious health problems (later diagnosed as brain tumours).

"My husband was in the army and when he served in Iraq I went to live in Germany. I was taken poorly with ear infections. The doctors thought I was suffering from depression."

"Then the tumour ruptured and I lost the use of my legs and couldn't speak. I was in hospital for nine months."

Fortunately, Vicky received excellent care in the hospital in Germany, but that wasn't the end of her trials. She went on to suffer meningitis too – the infection had moved from her ear, to the brain and on to the spine.

While she was in Germany there was little support for wives whose husbands had been sent to war. The family even had to fork out to help her husband with his kit.

Vicky was pleased last week that the Chilcot Report shed light on the failings of people who led Britain to war.

Vicky at home in Barry.

"The soldiers didn't have the armour they needed and this was all known beforehand."

In the end the strain of war and service life led to the breakdown of her marriage.

Vicky is keen to use her year as 'Miss Italian Bombshell' to publicise the Maria Hanson Foundation.

"It is great that it is helping former servicemen who have suffered from post traumatic stress disorder

(PTSD)."

Despite her trials and tribulations, Vicky remains optimistic and still looks to the future.

"I live every day as it comes. With young children you have to carry on."

If people would like more information on the cause Vicky is supporting during her year in office, they should go to: www.mariahansonfoundation.org.uk.

The ballet girls look forward to joining the professionals

YOUNG ballet dancers from the Bridgend area have been selected to join the English Youth Ballet in a professional production in Cardiff next month.

The girls were selected after an extensive audition process and will perform in The Sleeping Beauty in the New Theatre.

The girls are: Phoebe Bowen (16) from Bryntrinion Comprehensive; Keira Durston (11) from Llangewydd English Youth Ballet at the New Theatre, Cardiff from August 12-13.

The ballet will star international principal dancers – Amy Drew, Adele Robbins, Monica Tapiador, Richard Read, Brenden Bratolic, Oliver Speers and Steven Wheeler.

All the soloist and corps de ballet roles in the production will be performed by 100 dancers (aged 8 – 18) from south Wales.

Tickets can be purchased at the Box Office 029 2087 8889 or www.newtheatrecardiff.co.uk

Geoff chauffeurs the Welsh football team at glorious homecoming

Geoff Cook from Barry with the Wales team manager, Chris Coleman, on arrival at the Cardiff City stadium.

A Barry man played a key part in the Welsh football team's homecoming parade.

Geoff Cook, who lives in Brookfield Avenue, told THE GEM: "I drove the Welsh team bus through Cardiff on their arrival back in Wales.

"I work as a part time driver for Cardiff City sightseeing, having worked for 42 years as a driver and control inspector for Cardiff bus, and have to say that this was the highlight of my transport career.

"I have never seen so many people on the streets of Cardiff. I thought that when I drove one of the Cardiff City promotion parade buses in 2013 that the streets were full, but this was something else.

"There were reports that 220,000 people were lining the streets. I have never driven so slowly, with my foot firmly on the brake! I reached a top speed of about 5 mph."

Pupils are 'pride' of St Clare's

Simba and family.

Elephant.

Monkeys.

ST CLARE'S School production of The Lion King was, of course, a 'roaring' success. You couldn't help but get goosebumps on your goosebumps as the lights went down and Rafiki (Kate Layland) began summoning the animals to Pride Rock, a spokesperson reported.

Pupils from as young as year-2 in the prep school right up to the sixth form, performed marvellously as animals in the production, led by the school's theatrical director Hayley Corthine.

Audiences delighted in the music, under the baton of musical director Lauren Beale, marvelled at the make-up and costumes and were enthralled by all the performers.

Familiar songs such as 'Hakuna Matata' and 'Circle of Life' brought laughter and goosebumps to all watching.

All in all, a very professionally performed and uplifting tale.

MP is breath-tested for Lung Foundation

POLITICIANS make many people exhale an exasperated sigh, but last week, in Westminster, MPs were doing the heavy breathing.

Chris Elmore, MP for Ogmore, was one of a group of MPs that gave up the affairs of state to take part in the British Lung Foundation's 'Listen to Your Lungs' launch.

He said: "Completing the BLF's online breath test is a really easy way of checking your lung health. I'd encourage everyone to try it.

'Listen to Your Lungs' is a UK-wide campaign that aims to raise awareness that feeling out of breath doing everyday tasks could be a sign of lung disease.

The campaign comes in the same month as a national lung cancer screening campaign is being launched in Wales. The two campaigns will complement each other in ensuring more diagnoses are made and more people receive the treatment they need in good time.

To take the Listen to your Lungs test, visit: www.blf.org.uk/breathtest.

MORE SAILINGS 30TH AUGUST - 2ND OCTOBER

Gurr-eth Bale and his team mates just want to go home!

Playful Minstrel.

Rhodri is a Welsh fan.

STAFF at Dogs Trust Bridgend are appealing to dog loving football fans to help score homes for the centre's four-legged footie fans.

The residents of Dogs Trust Bridgend were keen to spur on the national team for the game against Portugal and made a banner cheering on the team.

Proud Welshman Rhodri is a four-year-old terrier who has been sitting on the bench waiting for a new home for over a year.

Rhodri loves nothing better than chasing after a football and could outrun Gareth Bale if there was a treat in it for him.

Eight week old American Bulldog puppy, Minstrel, is desperate to find a loving new home where he can play endless games of chase.

The playful pups would love to find a football-loving home where they can continue their training and receive plenty of adoration from their number one fans, in the form of a new family. Dogs Trust assistant manager

Rebecca Baker said: "We are already toasting Welsh success and celebrating finding homes for puppies Gurr-eth Bale, Hal Dogson Kanu and Joe Leadley earlier in the tournament, and the only thing which could top it would be to finally find Rhodri and Minstrel the loving homes they deserve!"

If you are interested in rehoming a dog, call the Bridgend Rehoming Centre 0300 303 0292 or visit www.dogstrust.org.uk.

COMMUNITY FOOD CO-OP UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The ValePlus team.

Welsh NHS complaints up 4 per cent

COMPLAINTS against Welsh NHS bodies made to the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales have risen by four per cent over the past year, according to new figures.

Ombudsman Nick Bennett has called for stronger leadership to "turn the curve" of complaints and said new Assembly legislation for his office was needed to improve public services in Wales.

One million step challenge

DIABETES UK CYMRU is asking people in Wales to 'step up' to a challenge: one million footsteps in three months.

Funds raised through the challenge will go towards research into diabetes.

Dai Williams, director of Diabetes UK Cymru, said: "Taking a million steps over three months may sound like a lot, but it works out as roughly 10,000 steps a day, which is the minimum amount recommended to stay in good health."

VALEPLUS, which provides day services for adults with disabilities, has now taken over the local community food co-op.

This will give local people the opportunity to purchase fresh quality fruit, vegetables and eggs at good prices.

Items are £3 a bag and eggs are 60p for six.

The community food co-op will operate on Friday afternoons between 1pm and 3pm at the Guide Hall, Colhugh Street, Llantwit Major. All money and orders must be in the previous week: to do this, visit the hall between the allocated times.

Angharad Pritchard, the ValePlus outreach manager said: "We are very pleased to be taking part in this project; not only does it help the local community, but it also gives our service users the chance to learn and participate in new skills, such as weighing, sorting, writing out and counting up the orders; sorting money and serving the public."

For more information on ValePlus or the co-op, contact Angharad on 01446 746691 or email angharadp@valeplus.org.uk.

Welsh flags flew proudly on night Wales played in Euro semi-final

LAST week the nation was united in hope as Wales clashed with Portugal in the Euro 2016 semi-final.

Welsh flags flew from cars, windows and in gardens.

In Barry, Brian and Christine Harris, who live on Port Road, caused a stir with their display of flags on the day of the match and a notice predicting a narrow Wales' win 2 - 1.

Motorists were sounding their horns in appreciation as the drove past.

Brian and Christine have been big Wales and Cardiff City fans since 1949.

Brian said: "We've followed Wales and Cardiff to places like Sweden, Italy and Finland."

The couple were unable to go to Euro 2016 because Brian is suffering from gout, but their sons Karl and Nigel, grandsons Christian, Luke and Nathan, grand-daughter Emma and her husband Andy all made some of the matches including the never-to-be-forgotten semi-final.

Brian was confident Wales could do it, but did sound a note of caution that "Ronaldo might wake up" which proved prescient.

Christine said that even if Wales did lose it the team had done the nation proud.

All the family were able to go to Cardiff City stadium last Friday to enjoy the homecoming parade.

A CARD FROM THE QUEEN ON HER 100th BIRTHDAY!

Linda received a special commemorative 100th birthday card from the Queen.

Twin sisters followed in 1917 as well as a brother in 1919 and then a second brother in 1927.

Despite being a good student, a proficient pianist and passing her 11 plus, Linda left school aged 14 in 1930, serving an apprenticeship as a hairdresser. After gaining sufficient experience, she opened her own hairdressing business in Porthcawl.

On June 3, 1940, Linda married David Saunders, and during their wedding celebrations, a trainload of troops just evacuated from Dunkirk arrived at Porthcawl railway station a short distance from the wedding reception. All of the remaining wedding food was swiftly taken to the troops, who also received many other useful gifts from the people of Porthcawl.

After the war, Linda was busy looking after their two children,

Jeffrey and Patricia, while David ran a greengrocer's shop.

As her children grew up, Linda became very active with the Save The Children charity and also enjoyed playing bridge.

Family life has always been very important, and she loves nothing better than to be with her three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Previous birthdays have always been celebrated to the full.

For example, on Linda's 80th she piloted a light aircraft with her son, grandson and great grandson on board!

Sadly, Linda's beloved David died in 2001 and her 90th birthday was celebrated without him.

Summer Kansiray from Ogmere Vale.

Summer inspires her mum

Joanne said: "When we realised that Summer's transplanted kidney was failing, we were devastated.

Summer is so young and has been through so much already, but seeing her deal with this latest blow, I really couldn't be more proud of her.

"She is a fighter and the fact that she is taking part once again in this year's Cardiff 2K family run, although often coming in last place, proves just how strong and committed she is!

"The Kidney Wales Foundation have been there for us every step of the way, providing a huge amount of emotional support. The best thing we can do to show our gratitude is to raise awareness and show our wholehearted support by participating in the 2K and 10K events and raising funds for the charity that will remain a huge part of all our lives."

Last year's Cardiff 10K saw a record number of 5,000 runners take to the streets of Cardiff and raise a record sum for race organisers Kidney Wales.

Roy Thomas, chief executive of Kidney Wales said: "At Kidney Wales we have stood by the Kansiray family from day one, so hearing the news that Summer's body had rejected the new kidney was utterly heart-breaking.

"Unfortunately, many families across Wales are going through situations very similar to Summer, and at Kidney Wales we rely on the outstanding fundraisers who take on the Cardiff 10K each year to help support these families through their hardships. I want to thank everyone who is raising money and taking part this year."

Registration for the 2016 Cardiff 2K and 10K events on September 11 is now open and people of all ages and abilities are encouraged to get involved with the iconic city centre road race.

To find out more about the event, to sign up or to help raise money and awareness for Kidney Wales, visit the Cardiff 10K website: www.cardiff10k.cymru or call (029) 2034 3951.

Homemade scones boost mayor's coffee morning

PORHCRAWL Mayor Coun Rob Lee and his wife, the Mayoress, both attended the annual charity coffee morning at the town museum.

They enjoyed home made scones with clotted cream and jam provided by the hardworking volunteers from the museum.

The mayor helped with the raffle draw and took part in a topical quiz about British Prime Ministers and Leaders of the Opposition, which required a tie break question to decide the winner.

All proceeds on the day will go to the Mayor's charity fund.

The Golf Union of Wales congratulates history-making Lydia

HISTORY-making golfer Lydia Hall from Bridgend has been congratulated by the Golf Union of Wales for becoming the first woman to win a PGA national tournament against the men.

Former Ladies European Tour winner Hall has been a Golf Development Wales professional ambassador for women's and girls' golf this year, so showing she could win the title against all the other club professionals in Wales can only help push that nationwide initiative.

Hall won the PGA's oldest tournament title in Tenby, becoming the first lady winner of the 36 hole event, repelling the challenges of Matthew Tötty of North Wales golf club and Thomas Phillips of Hadley Wood in Hertfordshire.

"Lydia has been a great help encouraging women and girls to take up golf as a sport for life, so we are delighted to add our congratulations on this great achievement," said Golf Union of Wales development director Hannah McAllister.

"She has been a key part of the initiative, thanks to both her track record as a ladies European Tour winner and also her work as a PGA professional.

"In particular she played a huge part in a recent girls' golf clinic at Pyle and Kenfig – hopefully the way she inspired girls to take up the game and improve has also helped to inspire Lydia."

Hall's second round three-under-par 67 was the best of the tournament and gave her an overall total of two-under.

Furthermore, she held her nerve in the closing stages of the Asbri Golf-sponsored event while her closest challengers faltered.

Phillips three-putted the 16th and Tötty lost his chance of forcing a play-off when he missed a short putt on the 18th. Hall, by contrast, unfazed by a rare blip at the 15th, negotiated the last three holes in regulation.

She attributed that to her experiences on the Ladies' European Tour, not least winning the ISPS Handa Ladies' British Masters almost four years ago.

"The experience of nine years on tour helped me massively," she said. "I've been in this position on tour – in the final group and leading. So I knew the kind of feeling I'd have, how to keep myself calm, to stay in the present and not think ahead."

"It was quite tight coming down the stretch and I knew I had to get to at least two, maybe three-under. I made a silly bogey on 15 but kept going over the last three holes, so I'm delighted."

Hall also put her experience of many tussles with the scenic but always challenging course to good effect and added: "I know it very well and it's a tough course. It can beat you up at times."

"I kept patient and was not too aggressive. But there are some holes on which you need to be aggressive. I've played this course for many, many years and kind of knew what the conditions would be like. Even so, you still get nervous in the final round – I missed a couple of short putts yesterday but made up for that today."

Now, having held her nerve on the course to make PGA history, Hall faces a nervous wait for the outcome of exams that follow a change of direction in her golfing career.

She is attached to Hensol Golf Academy, mid-Glamorgan, and has just completed her second year as a PGA assistant.

"I get my year two results on Friday, so fingers crossed," explained the 28-year-old whose father, Wayne, represented Wales at rugby union.

"Hopefully I can start my third and final year in October. I'm learning a lot and really enjoying it."

"I decided to join the PGA because our tour is growing and growing but we still haven't got a tournament every single week yet. It gives me an opportunity to teach and I really enjoy that. It also gives me a balance in my life so I don't have to think about playing all the time."

Hall, however, was not the only one savouring victory at Tenby – Peter Evans of Royal Porthcawl Golf Club was crowned the Senior Welsh National Champion after posting a two round total of eight-over-par.

THIS YEAR'S VALE SHOW COULD BE THE BEST YET!

HORSES, cattle, sheep, pigs, poultry, giant vegetables, the Stannage International Stunt Team, the Rockwood Dog Display Team and the famous Quack Pack will feature in this year's Vale of Glamorgan Show on Wednesday, August 10.

The Vale Show, held at Fommon Castle, is the highlight of the summer and is set to be the best yet with many more attractions for all the family to enjoy.

At the livestock lines there will be the best cows and sheep from around the country competing for breed championships and other classes and a chance to see how cows are milked. There will also be a poultry show and bigger countryside area to explore. You can wander around the dog show and see 70 different breeds of dog. Come and watch the sheep shearing competition, see the fleece competition and learn how the wool is spun.

The beekeepers will be at the show again this year and visitors will have the chance to join the bees in the enclosure to learn about beekeeping and honey.

There are lots of horse and pony classes at the show starting at 8.30am and culminating in an exciting show jumping competition in the main ring.

Whatever else you do on show day, do not miss the fantastic food court which brings the best of Welsh produce to the show field!

Why not enter the show yourselves this year? There are lots of classes in the home produce section, such as cookery, sewing and craft work. There are extra classes just for children to enter.

The horticulture show also has children's classes and is building on the success of last year for 2016 with classes for all from the hobby gardener to professionals.

Make sure that you come to see the giant vegetables in the horticulture marquee. Details of all the classes running at the show can be found in the schedules which are on the show website.

There is so much for families to see and do in an action-packed day at the Vale Show... the Army climbing tower is waiting for anyone who wants to take the challenge. We have a new Countryside Ring this year where there will be farming demonstrations, the Quack Pack will appear, the Fire Service will be demonstrating a rescue and there will be other have-a-go activities.

You can watch the grand parade, tour the show ground on the road train, catch the Punch and Judy show, enjoy the delicious Welsh food in the food court and browse over 250 trade stands. There really is something for everyone.

You can buy early bird tickets at a discounted price via our website www.valeofglamorganshow.co.uk. For further information, call 07513 141698.

Come and have a fun-filled family day at the show on Wednesday, August 10 at Fommon Castle, near Barry.

Vale Friends' day out at Dyffryn

The Vale Friends at Dyffryn House.

MEMBERS of the Vale Friendship Group recently got together for a day out at Dyffryn House and Gardens.

Sergeant Mark John organised the trip, which was enjoyed by some of the most vulnerable citizens of Llantwit Major and the surrounding area.

Often without relatives living nearby or with limited social opportunities, members of the Vale Friendship Group are more likely to be targeted and become victims of certain crimes.

Figures demonstrate that Llantwit Major has a disproportionate share of rogue trader incidents and 'scam' attempts.

The group has grown to over 30 members since it was launched in November, 2015.

Days out for members are regularly organised and have previously included trips to the cinema and to Barry Island.

Sergeant Mark John, said: "Once again, the outing was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by the members. The group was launched in response to a real community need, and I hope that its membership continues to grow."

Putting the 'tea' in charity

THE 'world's biggest coffee morning' as organised by Macmillan Cancer Support takes place in September.

The charity is asking friends, families and workmates to take part in the coffee morning. To find out more, visit coffee.macmillan.org.uk.

FORWARD PLANNING FOR CONSERVATORIES AND ORANGERIES

are not something to rush. Once you've got your initial ideas, an experienced conservatory or orangery specialist will work with you to turn these suggestions into a room that fits your lifestyle.

On a practical level, if your home has previously been extended or the drainage needs to be moved, it will take time to get the necessary approvals.

At Securahome we always project manage the approval process and expect local authority planning permission to take at least 10 weeks, with sever agreements often involving a similar timescale.

All things considered, once you've made the decision to go ahead, it could take three or four months before you can put your feet up and enjoy your new room. However, having invested the time to design, plan and build it properly we think you'll agree that your new conservatory or orangery will be more than worth the wait!

Conservatories and orangeries are probably the most straightforward and quickly constructed of all home extensions, but like any building project they do take time.

Having built and project managed hundreds of conservatories and orangeries, in our experience from initial consultation through to completion is likely to take months rather than weeks.

Decisions such as how you will use the room, the design, layout and materials

Candyfloss is a problem... but Mayor is a dab hand at Welsh cakes!

Pupils Catrin Swann and Elizabeth Regan are clearly amused by the Vale Mayor's tussle with candyfloss.

MAYOR of the Vale, Coun Stuart Egan, visited Sully Primary School to open the PTA summer fete and tried his hand at making candyfloss – but quickly decided that he was much better at making Welsh cakes!

The fete raised £3,400, which will go towards providing a new audio and video system for the school hall.

"I am delighted that such a fantastic amount was raised and I would like to acknowledge the hard work of a very small, but very successful, PTA," the Mayor said.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. Locally Cloudy2Clear service Cardiff & surrounding areas and

Welsh business owner Phil Powell agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Phil a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Broken Or Damaged Windows? Faulty Locks, Handles, Hinges?

Cats' Protection on the agenda for Rhose WI

KELLY Matthews, education officer of Cats Protection, was the speaker at the July meeting of Rhose WI on July 7.

Entertaining and informative, Kelly covered all aspects of the charity's work. Using question and answer to highlight facts about cat care and behaviour, she stressed the imperative of neutering, revealing that within five years an un-neutered cat and her un-neutered offspring could produce up to 20,000 kittens!

She also spoke of how the cat/human relationship is symbiotic, with cats helping humans to cope with stress and the fact that this has been shown to lower human blood pressure.

On behalf of members, the vote of thanks for a most interesting talk was given by Avril Phillips. Business then resumed, and the president reported that she had received notes of appreciation from the visiting Heritage Coast social group WIs for the fashion show and afternoon tea provided by Rhose last month.

She also reminded members that skittle afternoons will be postponed until September. However, the craft club will take place on July 20 at 2pm when members will begin work on the WI's entry for the GFWI Christmas tree festival in November.

Lunch club will meet at the Highwayman Inn at 12.30pm on July 28. There will also be an afternoon tea at Coffee Time in August (date to be confirmed); this will cost £6 which must be paid at the next meeting in order to secure a place. Tickets for the Curling and Cake Tournament will also be on sale at that time. The August meeting will be at the community hall, Stewart Road on August 4 at 7.30pm; members are reminded to bring a small plate of food as this will be a social evening.

Finally, this month's competition winner was announced – congratulations to Gill Oliver – with the raffle prize going to Jan Dally. JJ

Welsh Tory leader backing new PM

LEADER of the Welsh Conservatives and prominent Brexit supporter, Andrew RT Davies AM has publicly backed new party leader Theresa May, who voted to Remain in the EU Referendum.

Mr Davies, regional AM for South Wales Central, said he was "very much looking forward" to working closely with the new Prime Minister.

The announcement "presents the new Prime Minister with an immediate opportunity to bring the country together, and to navigate Britain's successful exit from the European Union," said Mr Davies.

Reception pupils show off their artwork at Romilly Primary RECEPTION pupils at Romilly Primary School, in Barry, held an exhibition to show off their artwork on July 6.

Parents were invited to view the children's efforts as a finale to their summer term topic of 'The Beach'.

The year group received a grant from the Arts Council of Wales' 'Go and See' scheme, which enabled them to visit the National Museum of Wales in Cardiff. There, the children were taken on a tour of the natural history and art galleries, and also took part in a printmaking workshop with artist Helen Clifford.

Back at school, the children enjoyed a whole week of art activities, where they looked at the work of several artists and tried out various art techniques, including printmaking, collage, painting, weaving and sculpture.

You can see more pictures on the school website.

One-stop shop for tech and tablets launches in Pencoed

SINCE spring 2016, a one-stop shop in Pencoed has served all the needs of locals and those from farther afield with an eye on the latest smartphone or an upgrade, accessory or repair.

Thames Marketing Consultants has a simple ethos: the best service; the best gear; and the best prices.

Whether it's the latest fashion case for an iPad, iPhone or Galaxy, or a new screen because a rugged shockproof case - also stocked - wasn't a priority, the friendly and experienced staff will help.

Need a charger for the phone? Check. Hands-free set? Check. Screen protector to keep your new purchase looking great? Check.

Staff also carry out repairs at a reasonable cost, and customers pay only for work carried out, not for an inspection.

Pop down to Thames Marketing Consultants in Pencoed today to see the entire range, because not all the best deals are on the internet.

Ex patients are sought to help others in kidney disease drive

A SERVICE offering a helping hand to new kidney patients is on the lookout for volunteers to boost its numbers.

Swansea-based charity, the Paul Popham Fund, is behind the latest drive to recruit anyone with first-hand experience of kidney disease that could give new renal patients support and advice.

The fund's chair, Joanne Popham, said: "Being diagnosed with kidney disease is life-changing and who better to understand that than someone who has either gone through it themselves or seen a loved one go through it."

Welcoming the fund's involvement, consultant nephrologist Ash Mikhail explained that a befriending service had been running at Morriston for more than 11 years and this extra support would build on that success.

The fund has been working to develop the befriending service alongside staff from the regional renal team based at Morriston Hospital and hosted an event to launch its involvement.

Anyone who signs up to become a befriender will be given specialist training by a clinical psychologist and will receive support from the charity as well as the team at the renal unit which deals with patients living anywhere from Bridgend to Fishguard and as far north as Towyn.

The first befrienders' training course takes place on July 27 and to find out more about the befriending service, contact enquiries@paulpophamfund.co.uk or ring 0333 2001285.

The Blow Monkeys to play St Donat's

ST DONATS Arts Centre welcomes The Blow Monkeys on Friday, July 22 for their only Welsh gig this tour.

Following the success of their latest album, the self-released 'If Not Now, When?' in 2015, the band are ready to spread the love and share the music out there 'live' once again!

Since they reformed in 2008, they have resumed recording and performing. This is a chance to catch a legendary band with all four original members performing at the peak of their powers with a mix of 'classic hits' and brand new songs – all infused with their enigmatic style.

The Blow Monkeys will be forever known for hit songs from the 80's – such as 'Digging Your Scene' and 'It Doesn't Have To Be This Way', with Dr Robert the iconic frontman, but the man himself prefers to live in the present: "We've made four albums in the last six years since we reformed. We're on a roller! It's not about nostalgia and never will be."

"Of course, we play the old songs live and love doing them, but the buzz also comes from doing something new."

"Our audience is hip enough to know that," he said.

GEM READERS' LETTERS EXTRA

'Ill-informed views about foreigners'

AS the EU referendum and its result is the most important event to happen to the UK for 50 years, if not longer, I feel it's important to continue the debate.

Mr Bradshaw in his letter (The GEM, July 7) repeats the canard that we are governed by "unelected, unaccountable, irremovable (sic), unrecognisable politicians in Brussels".

I can only assume he did not vote in the last EU elections for one of the four Welsh MEPs who were all elected on the basis of proportional representation, so that they accurately reflected the voting patterns and percentages of the people of Wales, which is something that most Welsh MPs elected to the House of Commons signally failed to achieve!

I would further assume that he has not been in correspondence with his MEPs over any of the many vital issues covering the environment, workers' rights, TTIP, or other pan-European issues – or, more typically EU wide reductions in roaming charges made when operators were forced to by our 'unelected' EU parliament to reduce them, issues that really matter to the living standards and well being of the people of the country.

I have written many letters on these and other subjects to my elected MEPs and, with the exception of the UKIP MEP, who only wants to tell me to leave the EU, I've never failed to receive courteous, well presented, replies, just as I get from my MP when I write to him over UK issues.

I would ask Mr Harris (The GEM, July 7) to be specific about his comment that: "It is the vast number of people who have arrived or are trying to arrive, illegally (his word) with no means of supporting themselves and expect to be housed and supported by us."

Ill-informed views have seen an increase in hate crime since the referendum result was announced and used to make guest workers the reason for the lack of housing, schooling and health services.

One statistic to consider: since 2010, the amount of GNP spent on the NHS has reduced from 9 per cent at the time of the 2010 election to 6 per cent now, which was the level it was when the Conservatives were kicked out in 1997. So who is causing the pressure on the NHS – incomers or our own 'elected' politicians?

To those people who prate about 'wanting their country back', or rectifying the 'democratic deficit', I ask – have you actually been involved in Europe at all, or are your views coloured by views of 'Johnny foreigner' conjured up by Farage, Johnson and Gove?

David Kennett, Barry.

'WE'VE LOST CONTROL OF OUR GOVERNMENT'

IT was no surprise that Alun Cairns MP's meeting last Friday in Cowbridge was so well attended, as so many of us have had enough of experts.

In April 2015, Alun Cairns told those at hustings that he would be voting to leave, but has at some point since, apparently, changed his mind.

Our MP is now concerned that we will talk the UK into a recession, although the idea that the opinions of those of us in Cowbridge will determine what banks and corporations do seems very far-fetched.

We are in a situation with a Conservative Government that only received 36.9 per cent of the votes in 2015 making incredibly important decisions for younger people, who will live with the consequences for many years.

Just 199 of 330 Tory MPs have chosen Teresa May as our new Prime Minister.

I believe that we, the British people, have lost control of our Government. Young people whose wishes and experiences are being ignored, are likely to lose many life choices and opportunities. Seventy per cent of the under-25s, those who are most likely to study, live, socialise and compete for jobs and housing with people immigrating from other EU countries, voted for the UK to remain a member of the EU – almost 65 per cent of under-25s voted.

At the meeting, we heard from a grandfather who voted leave because of his grandchildren, fearing that the 4 per cent of the population who were born in other EU countries would diminish their lives.

And yet his grandchildren's generation are embracing migration and international friendships – record numbers of British people are at universities on the continent.

It does seem that those who are most socially and economically active, and form their opinions from experiences, rather than sensationalised and inaccurate newspaper headlines, are in favour of EU membership.

Numerous complaints about anti-EU newspaper headlines have been upheld, but corrections only appear weeks later in small print.

Ian Perry.

Why change the name? – only one makes sense:

'Cemetery Approach'

BARRY Town Council has asked people to choose one of five names for the new developments at Cemetery Approach.

I'm pleased they are doing the gardens, but must point out that Cemetery Approach was given to the people of Barry in 1934. It wasn't given to the council.

More than 11,300 Barry people signed a petition to preserve 'Cemetery Approach' and that is the name that must be used.

People have always known the area as Cemetery Approach and that name should stay.

Bryn Evans,
FocusBARRY member.

WALES LEADING THE WAY WITH OUR COMMUNITY NHS SERVICES

MANY readers of The GEM will use their local community pharmacy every week, even every day.

Community pharmacies are the most accessible NHS healthcare professional for most people with over 700 across Wales.

As a community pharmacist, I have been proud to serve the people of the area for over 20 years and help with dispensing and managing their medicines and so much more.

Like many local pharmacies in Wales, we at Sylvia Williams Chemist also provide a range of NHS services, including hospital discharge medication reviews, ensuring you get all the correct medicines delivered to your door on leaving hospital and Medicine Usage Review, supporting you in taking your medicines correctly. Wales is significantly further ahead of other parts of the UK in community pharmacy NHS services.

In these uncertain times I am working hard with professional colleagues to try and make sure it stays like that.

I am delighted that I have been personally shortlisted for the Royal Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain's 'I love my pharmacist' Awards.

I would really appreciate support from all those who want to see community pharmacy thrive and are willing to help me represent Wales in these prestigious UK wide Awards.

Community pharmacy is not only the healthcare centre in the high street but is often also one of the last bastions of the high streets and local community, now that the banks and post offices and independent shops are slowly disappearing.

I believe passionately that we can do things

by Kate Thomas, Pharmacist Proprietor, Sylvia Williams Chemist.

differently in Wales, that we can be a leading light and show the rest of the UK that community pharmacy could be utilised really effectively to help the NHS and ease the burden on GPs, giving them more time to spend with their patients, saving the NHS money and improving patient outcomes.

This would be a really positive step forward and I would really appreciate your vote to be able to canvass a positive way forward for Welsh pharmacies at this critical time in history.

Voting can be done online at www.ilovemyp pharmacist.co.uk or on paper forms in Sylvia Williams Chemist. It is open to any age group and closes on July 21.

With the holiday season under way, this month's health article is advice for your holidays, be they in the UK or abroad. The last thing anyone wants on their summer holiday is to get ill. But in the lead-up to a holiday, it can be easy to spend more time thinking about the latest season's fashion, getting the best exchange rate, or making sure that the pets will be looked after.

It may not seem important at the time, but having a quick chat with your pharmacist before you go on holiday, can help to avoid some of the most common illnesses that can spoil your holiday.

Stomach bugs: People often suffer with diarrhoea and sickness on holiday because they have consumed contaminated food or water.

Follow the simple rule 'cook it, boil it, peel it or leave it' while you're on your holiday.

Stomach upsets can also be caused by bad hygiene, so make sure that you wash your hands thoroughly before preparing or eating food.

Pharmacy tips: Take some re-hydration sachets with you in your first aid kit, just in case you have a stomach bug.

These will stop you from getting dehydrated. You can also ask your pharmacist about anti-diarrhoea pills.

Euro 2016 gives Cardiff Airport passenger boost

PASSENGER numbers at Cardiff Airport have risen in the last year, partly as a result of Wales' semi-final run in the European Championships.

That's according to new statistics released this week.

Figures for June 2016 reveal a year-on-year jump of 17 per cent, reflecting Wales' fantastic progress to the semi-finals of Euro 2016.

Meanwhile, the overall number of passengers flying from Cardiff Airport over the last 12 months was 1.3 million.

Shadow Economy Secretary, Russell

George AM, said: "It's great news for Cardiff Airport that passenger numbers have risen significantly over the last year, and we need to see that progress sustaining itself in the years ahead."

He added: "We know from independent analysis that the Welsh Government paid twice as much for the airport as they were advised to, and long-term growth will enable taxpayers to reclaim some of that lost money."

"Wales' success in the Euros has attracted thousands of new passengers to the airport and experts will look closely at its performance next year to see if that progress can be repeated."

Drive to promote active lifestyles

A 'HEALTH and fitness' day held at St Richard Gwyn Catholic High School proved popular with staff and pupils alike.

FREE RUNNING

PUPILS had a choice of activities to take part in, including cardio core tennis, Parkour, Insanity-style fitness, military fitness and the 'Alphabet Fitness Challenge' on offer to raise heart rates.

Pupils from year-7 to year-10 were given further information about the activities from the health and fitness day, so that they could get involved outside of school hours, in a drive to get more children across the Vale.

Wales has one of the highest rates of obesity in the UK, which led teachers at the school to act, organising a day full of different physical activities.

For more information on physical activity in the Vale, contact the Vale Council's sports development on 01446 704728 or email kjdavies@valeofglamorgan.gov.uk.

GRASSES FOR GARDENS

AUGUST is usually the month when most of us go on holiday and leave our gardens to fend for themselves.

A little thought before you go, and some tender loving care when you return, will be enough to make sure that you can go away without worrying about all of your hard gardening work going to waste.

If you travel a fair amount, then it might be worth considering some plants that need slightly less watering but still look impressive in flower beds and borders, such as ornamental grasses.

They provide texture, character and form to any garden and develop through the seasons, as bright and colourful foliage is joined by graceful swaying flower heads that last well into winter.

In large borders, grasses can be planted in bold groups or striking drifts, but many varieties perform well in large patio pots, positioned where their individual shape and arching form can be fully appreciated.

Popular grasses for pots include compact Blue Fescue Grass or taller varieties such as Zebra Grass. By positioning grasses close to paths and seating areas you can run your hands over their feathery foliage and flowers as you pass, and taller grasses such as the showstopper

Golden Oats add movement to otherwise static displays.

Ornamental grasses offer great value and variety and are Plants of the Moment in garden centres around the UK this month.

For August watering and summer pruning are key – as the experts will tell you...

August is usually one of the hottest months of the year – making watering essential. Try to use grey water wherever possible, especially as water butts may be running low if it has been a dry summer. August is traditionally holiday-time, so you might need to enlist the help of friends and family to look after the garden while you are away.

When you are at home, take the time to prune summer-flowering shrubs.

RHS HIGH summer is the best time to get outside and enjoy the garden – just remember to keep everything watered. However, Wisteria needs pruning twice a year, in August and again in January to ensure good growth and flowers next year.

It's also the ideal month to take cuttings of woody herbs, such as rosemary, sage and lavender – making sure you take new growth that hasn't flowered this year.

Don't forget to trim lavender after it finishes flowering, to encourage bushy new growth in the spring. If you don't prune them, they will look bare and woody next year.

David Domoney, TV gardener and presenter

THE hour of hard work is at hand for the owner of a spring meadow garden, as the flowers have, by now, ripened seed.

If the skills are available, cut it with a scythe; otherwise, a range of options present themselves, such as the disc mower, the wheeled scythe and the cord trimmer, depending on the scale of the operation.

Don't chop it up, but cut it all off cleanly at the base, then let it lie for a few days to allow the insect life to return to the earth.

Country Life

IF you grow your own, make sure you water consistently, as irregular watering can lead to problems with blossom end rot in tomatoes, splitting of root vegetables and flower dropping in runner beans.

Weeds can also compete with vegetables for water, so make sure you remove them regularly by hoeing. You can still sow quick maturing salad crops, such as summer lettuce, radish, rocket, sorrel, chicory and fennel in the south of England.

Elsewhere, sow green manures, such as crimson clover and Italian ryegrass, to act as a soil improver and to cover bare areas. When dug in, they conserve nutrients and improve soil texture.

Rooted strawberry runners can be planted out and it's time to prune nectarines, apricots and peaches after they have fruited and plums, gages and damsons immediately after they have been harvested.

SARAH MILNE

Local songwriter's Mabinogion musical could be magical Review by Philip Irwin.

IT is stating the obvious to say that a lot of work goes into staging a musical, and I Merlin, which started life a year or so ago in Penarth, took its latest step last week with a short run at the Weston Studio in the Wales Millennium Centre, with a strong cast.

With music written by Katherine Cole from Penarth, book by Jane King, directed by Ieuan Rhys, and choreographed by Amanda Campbell, the show tells a tale from the Mabinogion, about the creation of 'The Lady of the Flowers' (Blodeuwedd) by a quintet of meddling magicians.

They do it to help Prince Llew (Aled

Lloyd Rees) who has been cursed and can never marry a mortal woman. This is doubly sad because he is very much loved by his childhood sweetheart, Sioned (Anna-Ffion Cole). At least, he loves her until the Lady of the Flowers comes along – and then he's off with barely a backward glance.

Things go badly for Llewellyn, so he does pay a price for this, but it turns out even worse for Sioned.

Tammy Wynette sang that it was hard to be a woman but trust me Tammy, it was a lot tougher in the Mabinogion days.

I'm assuming that the team behind I Merlin don't want the story to end here. The hope must be that a producer will take note and develop it for a longer run on a bigger stage, and I'm pleased to say that there is definitely potential here.

The massive plus to this show is that once Blodeuwedd (played well by Tara Camm) appears, the story really kicks on. We are in a world of high drama, revenge, treachery and passion and Katherine Cole's songwriting is at its best here. There's a Les Mis quality and intensity to the pieces she writes for three or four voices.

The minus to the show is that setting up Blodeuwedd's story takes too long. There is a case for cutting a couple of songs. For instance, the five magicians get two comedy numbers in the show, and I think that 'Wild Woman Child' – a rock pastiche in act two – worked far better than 'Magic Maidens' – the one in the first half.

It would be a cruel cut, because the magicians: Iain Scott, Steven Evans, Michael Jarrod, Greg Dummer and Brynley Stone, are all very good.

Taking the show as a whole, all the main performers get a chance to shine. Aled Lloyd Rees has a hard job making Llewellyn likeable, but his voice gets stronger and stronger as the show progresses. Anna-Ffion Cole sings the tragic Sioned's songs beautifully, while Tara Camm is in turn charming and capricious as Blodeuwedd, with a really strong voice.

Another strong voice belongs to Nico Lee Walters, as Gronw, whose appearance in act two sparks the real drama.

There were also some fine vocal performances from Eleni Young, as Merlin's daughter, who acts as the narrator, and from Eleanor Thorne and Daniel Hill, as the young Sioned and Llewellyn.

Finally, the show is called I Merlin and Daniel Lambert is a constant presence as Merlin, adopting a '70s rock-star look, commenting on the action, speaking with an impressive deep booming baritone, and sometimes in an unfeasibly low growl. On balance, I didn't care for the growl.

It would be great to see this show attract further interest. Like Sondheim's Into The Woods, it needs plenty of good singers, but Wales is blessed in that regard. Further incarnations of I Merlin could be very interesting.

Nostalgia on show at Air Tattoo

ON Saturday, July 9, a group of members from the Penarth Aviation Society joined an outing, organised by society member Dave Rapley, to visit the Royal International Air Tattoo held at RAF Fairford.

On show in the static display were many aircraft of vintage ranging from 1930s' gliders to the current state-of-the-art Airbus A400 transport aircraft.

All airshows need a good flying programme and RIAT, as usual, supplied an outstanding display.

The oldest aircraft were a World War Two Spitfire and Hurricane from the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight and the newest was the Lightning2 stealth fighter due to come into service in the next few years.

A nostalgic touch was provided by the Breitling Wing Walking team on 1930s Boeing Stearmans.

The formation aerobatic displays were by teams from round Europe and the near East, with the UK's own Red Arrows providing their usual immaculate performance.

Leaving the airfield saw us discussing both the static and flying displays and looking forward to the 2017 RIAT next July.

'Hookers' textile panel donated to Mencap

ONE OF three textile panels recently produced by Barry Hookers Crochet and Craft group was gifted to Vale AM Jane Hutt to donate to a charity of her own choosing.

They are constructed from nine-inch squares, each employing various textile techniques such as knitting, applique, crochet, quilting and embroidery portrayed images associated with Barry as a resort and town.

The 'Hookers', who meet at Barry Island's Coffee cove on Wednesday mornings, undertake projects for charity fundraising and also provide a skills exchange where women teach and demonstrate craft techniques to each other.

Ms Hutt was invited to formally open the Hookers' recent Barry in Stitches spring exhibition at the Travellers Gallery at Barry train station which featured the textile panels.

She chose Mencap to receive the textile panel which will be displayed in their Cardiff offices and was presented with the art work by Sian Rodgers, a Mencap project officer and Dr Jane Salisbury, both representatives of the Barry Hookers craft group.

The panel is now on display in the Mencap office in Cardiff, seen here with Sara Pickard (Hidden Now Heard project officer), Wales director Wayne Crocker and Sian Rodgers (Keep Safe and demonstrate craft techniques to

Boys in red a credit to Wales

WELL, what a journey. After waiting 58 years to reach the finals of a major football tournament, our Welsh team, ably led by Chris Coleman and captain, Ashley Williams, has performed heroically, far and away outstripping any of our wildest expectations.

Over the past few weeks, the team has captured the hearts and minds of our nation playing with a passion and zeal which has been to the envy of many of our competitors. We have succeeded in combining outstanding levels of spirit and vigour with quality on the pitch.

The eyes of the world have been on Wales and the conduct of our team and management has been truly outstanding – I'm always proud to be Welsh, but the efforts of the past few weeks have undoubtedly emphasised some of our best qualities as a country – character, determination and togetherness.

We didn't quite manage the fairy tale ending, for sure, but as a nation we are incredibly proud of the team's efforts.

And finally, a word for our incredible support. Thousands and thousands of Welsh men and women have crossed the Channel to back the team and have done so in an impeccable yet passionate fashion.

You too have been a credit to Wales. Similarly, those who have cheered on from the many fanzones, pubs and living rooms across the country!

Well done again to Chris Coleman and his team, enjoy the celebrations, you've earned it. Andrew RT Davies, South Wales Central AM, Leader of the Welsh Conservatives.

'A SUMMER TO REMEMBER...'

THE support in France was incredible, with over 30,000 Welsh fans in Bordeaux for the opening game against Slovakia. As the tournament wore on, the sea of noise from the 'Red Wall' was awe-inspiring, and one of the many reasons why the team enjoyed the success that they did.

All forms of building project management and refurbishment Kingfisher Developments, big enough to cope – and small enough to be personal Kingfisher Developments (Wales) Ltd, which has passed its quarter-century mark, is one of south Wales' leading medium-sized construction firms.

Founded by Graham Hill and Steve Cottingham in the early '90s, the firm has experienced dynamic, but sustainable growth and now employs more than 50 site staff from its HQ in Llantwit Major – as well as a dedicated team of some 15 admin and support staff.

The company's success derives, as is so often the case, from adversity.

Mr Hill, an old boy of Cowbridge Grammar School, withdrew from completing his 'A' levels and instead embarked on an articled apprenticeship with a local building company – as he put it – "some years ago."

"I worked for local companies and even studied at Bridgend College – so I have very much been part of the fabric of the region professionally and personally all my life."

Mr Hill continued: "Successive companies I worked for were taken over and before long, I wanted to take a bit more control."

"I had become a member of the CIB (Chartered Institute of Building) and while always having been 'hands on', I wanted to extend that to the management and contracts side of the industry."

He explained that before he and Steve Cottingham started Kingfisher in the early '90s, they were part of a team that went to Highgate to complete the refurbishment of three million-pound houses.

He explained that the initial company had gone bust and that the part-refurbished houses were not weathering the winter well.

"We moved in, camped on-site in the snow and rain – which itself was a good prod to get a move on – and finished the job."

Kingfisher Developments prides itself on being large enough to tackle a wide range of projects, but small enough to ensure that each client receives the personal touch.

The company is split into three divisions: construction, mechanical and specialist. The construction division comprises three sub-specialties of building, restoring – of 'heritage' buildings, for example – and improving.

From groundwork to delivering the finished property, Kingfisher Development's experience of new builds has many satisfied customers in the region.

Recent projects include Aberdare's Gospel Hall Terrace, a development of seven new houses for Cynon Taf Community Housing Group.

The company also has enviable success in improving homes, commercial properties and public spaces.

One recent example of the latter is the replacement of the Brook Green footbridge at Llandough Hill.

The project, though small compared to other Kingfisher contracts, was an intricate one and demonstrates the company's versatility as a building contractor. It also highlights the high standards of environmental awareness the company prides itself on.

Kingfisher Developments also undertook the recent refurb of Crud yr Awel in Maesteg. Contracted by First Choice Housing Association, the project entailed turning an existing property into four self-contained assisted living flats – the 20th project on behalf of this housing association.

Making Lives Better

Service, quality, innovation!

"Working in partnership with housing associations was one of Kingfisher's founding projects," said Mr Hill. "Soon after starting the company, we built a development for Cynon Taff Housing Association and now have more than half a dozen housing associations and local authorities as our clients, as well as Lloyds TSB and the National Autistic Society.

Understanding the client's needs is one of Kingfisher's trademarks. In the case of Crud yr Awel, uniformity of quality did not mean uniformity of style, and each flat has been tailored to be unique, just like Kingfisher's clients. Even an 'Elvis Presley' room was not too much to do.

Kingfisher's specialist works department carries out a variety of projects ranging from physical adaptations, structural works and all manner of what it euphemistically terms 'insurance perils' – fire, flood and various acts of God to the public.

People are living longer and more independent lives – even if disabled or simply less active than once they were – and adaptations to the structure of a home enable this.

Dealing with the devastation of a fire, storm or flood is heartbreak enough, and Kingfisher's site operatives are experienced in this type of work and ensure the job is completed with the minimum of disruption to the client in what can be a difficult time.

Kingfisher also has a mechanical section, dealing with gas, electrical and plumbing matters – all dealt with by fully-qualified and experienced personnel.

It is this level of service, combined with quality and innovation that sets Kingfisher Developments (Wales) apart in the region.

Ghostbusters reboot slice of summer fun

REBOOTS (or remakes) are part and parcel of the Hollywood furniture – yet few have been met with quite the level of opposition as that of Ghostbusters.

The 1984 original is one of the most beloved films of the last 50 years or so, so when it was announced that Paul Feig (Spy, Bridesmaids) was to helm an all-female cast, the internet descended into what the original film would describe as 'Fire and brimstone coming down from the skies! Rivers and seas boiling! Forty years of darkness! Earthquakes, volcanoes... The dead rising from the grave! Human sacrifice, dogs and cats living together...' In short, the very essence of mass hysteria!

Things weren't helped by a patchy first trailer that made it into YouTube's top 20 most disliked videos; however the proof of the pudding is in the tasting – and Ghostbusters is ready to be tasted.

It tells the story of Erin Gilbert (Kristen Wiig) and Abby Yates (Melissa McCarthy), who write a book that suggests that ghosts are real. A few years later, Gilbert lands a prestigious teaching position at Columbia University, but when her book resurfaces she is laughed out of the university.

However, when ghosts invade Manhattan, Gilbert reunites with Yates and they team up with Jillian Holtzmann (Kate McKinnon) and subway worker Patty Tolan (Leslie Jones) to battle a mysterious demon known as Rowan (Neil Casey) who can exercise control over human forms...

This may shock you, but internet fans aren't always right. Though they may bang their keyboards in fury and (un)righteous anger, what they think is best is very rarely what actually is best (Snakes On A Plane a prime example).

So it may be frustrating for these keyboard warriors that Ghostbusters isn't the horrific, disastrous monstrosity that they were hoping for – in fact it's a quite serviceable action comedy that has many good points, and only a few bad ones.

While the shadow of the original hangs heavy over proceedings (not helped by the use of Ray Parker Jr's addictive theme tune at the start), once it spreads its wings and starts to fly it really soars.

The least appealing thing about the film, ironically, is the nods and winks to the Ghost(buster)s of films past; while a neat touch of nostalgia and a tip of the hat, it also feels redundant having created a new universe – and will no doubt be used as a stick to beat and chastise the filmmakers with across social media for those who have been against this film from the start.

But there is so much more that is appealing about the film that outweighs the minor frustrations; the cast are superb, parlaying their chemistry into something that makes you engage with them and all have their moments to shine.

The standout turns come from Kate McKinnon's Holtzmann (an unhinged and crazy genius) and Chris Hemsworth's Kevin, the team's muscly yet brain-dead receptionist. Hemsworth's touch for comedy is superb and here he threatens to nab the film away from his co-stars at every turn, however the team's dynamic makes for a hugely satisfying watch.

There are also clever little nods to the film's somewhat contentious gestation, with several references to the internet hate directed at Feig and the cast, notably when the videos of the team's 'bustin' exploits are met

by GARETH JAMIESON

Follow Screen Talk on Twitter – @GEMScreenTalk

with derision online – "You shouldn't be reading this stuff, it's just a list of what crazy people write in the middle of the night online".

The villain of the piece, Neil Casey's Rowan, is a creepy set-up that lacks any further exploration, which is a shame but luckily the film pivots on the mayhem he creates rather than the character itself, the results of which are both clever and well-realised.

Director Paul Feig has shown that he has a far broader palette than merely comedy, as evidenced by last year's Spy, and here he manages to balance the funny and the action incredibly well. The former no doubt requires tight marshalling given the cast's ability for improv, and while not every line is a zinger, it's still more than humorous enough, while the latter is tremendously well done, the ghost-packed climax stunningly realised, even if it does lack real stakes or bite.

It's hard not to be won over by the film's energy and likeability, retaining the original film's sense of fun and excitement – but, most importantly, Ghostbusters creates its own rules and sets up its own universe to make it stand on its own two feet. Looks like the internet was wrong again...

VERDICT – A satisfyingly enjoyable burst of blockbuster fun, Ghostbusters is a really entertaining watch. The cast are all strong, Paul Feig's direction impressive, and while nods to the original grate slightly, its ability to fend for itself makes it well worth your time. Recommended.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: Ghostbusters (1984), Spy (2015).

HEALTH SCREENING COMES TO COWBRIDGE

A charity is funding heart screening sessions for those aged 12 to 35 in Cowbridge, to help prevent deaths from undiagnosed heart conditions in the town.

Welsh Hearts/Calonau Cymru will provide electrocardiogram (ECG) sessions at Cowbridge town Hall on Saturday, August 6 from 9am to 4.30pm. Each screening lasts around 10 minutes and must be booked in advance.

Every year in the UK thousands of people die from undiagnosed heart problems, including over 600 young people in Wales. Founded in 2013, Welsh Hearts provide better access to lifesaving defibrillators, CPR training and heart screenings across Wales.

Sharon Owen, founder of Welsh Hearts, said: "These ECGs really do save lives. Following five screenings across Wales 14 people have been diagnosed with heart conditions including cardiomyopathy, a hole in the heart and other heart-related conditions.

"The sessions are open to anyone aged between 12 – 35 years and we urge people to make the most of these sessions while we are in town."

She said that many people associate heart problems with older people, though this is not always the case. She claims that, in Wales, hundreds of young people die because of undiagnosed heart conditions each year.

Welsh rugby star Ian Gough recently became a patron for Welsh Hearts following his own heart scare last year. The former Ospreys player was diagnosed with atrial fibrillation – an irregular and abnormally fast heart rate – following screening in early 2016. The diagnosis allowed treatment so it can be managed in the future.

To book a heart screening with Welsh Hearts, visit www.welshhearts.org and visit the events page, or call 02920 647735.

HISTORIC DAY AT MILLWOOD BOWLS CLUB AS IT HOSTS AN INTERNATIONAL EVENT

THE Millwood Bowls Club was proud to hosts the 'Deaf Bowls International Weekend' recently.

The Mayor of the Vale, Coun Stuart Egan, welcomed the competitors from Wales, England, Northern Ireland and Scotland.

He told the spectators and guests: "It was with the greatest pleasure that I accepted your invitation to be here today. I am delighted that this international tournament is taking place, and that Millwood Bowls Club has the honour and privilege to be the first Welsh club to host the Deaf Bowls International Weekend."

And Wales were the victors on the day!

The mayor was also very surprised and thrilled to receive a beautiful glass trophy of his own – presented to him by Millwood Bowls Club in memory of such an auspicious occasion.

The Mayor added: "I want to thank the club very much. The trophy will have pride of place in the Mayor's Parlour."

Standing room only at MP's Brexit meeting

OVER 160 people turned up in Cowbridge to hear Vale MP Alun Cairns field questions on Britain's future relationship with the EU.

Up to 30 members of the public were turned away from the event, unable to fit into the great hall at the rear of the Duke of Wellington public house.

During the course of the meeting Mr Cairns took questions on immigration, trade and EU regional funding. It became heated on a number of occasions with some of those who had supported Remain arguing forcefully for a second referendum, despite an initial statement from the MP against the idea.

On the whole, the question and answer session was good natured.

Mr Cairns said: "I am very grateful to all those who came to the meeting and those who tried to get in. It is a testament to the healthy political engagement we see here in the Vale and is reflected in above average voter turnouts in this constituency.

"Local people asked some very pertinent and well-informed questions about our country's relationship with the EU. I strove to answer them as well as possible as well as reassuring those present that the UK Government will move forward in a measured way, and that the country is well-placed to meet the challenges and opportunities of Brexit with calm decisiveness and positivity."

A member of Mr Cairns staff told THE GEM: "The turnout was far higher than we had predicted and, despite the large venue, the room was crowded and stuffy. I hope nobody who couldn't get in was too disappointed – it was a lovely evening to enjoy Cowbridge's beer gardens and the tennis was still on elsewhere in the pub."

Mr Cairns is holding a second public meeting entitled 'Brexit: What's next? A Q&A with Alun Cairns' in the Wyndham Club on Harbour Road in Barry at 6.30pm this Friday (July 15). Those who want to share their views on Britain's future relationship with the EU are encouraged to attend.

Jones' century helps to see off Sully Centurions

ON Saturday Barry Athletic first XI took on local rivals Sully Centurions at The Athletic Ground, Barry Island, won the toss and batted first on a lovely Sunny afternoon.

Barry got off to a bad start when they lost White early on and were three wickets down in next to no time before Jones and Brock added 50, before Brock was out LBW.

Ellis soon went for nought and this brought Jake Griffith to the wicket to join Rhett Jones and they added a fine 105 with Griffith scoring 41 in 35 balls with five 4s and one 6.

Jones went on to complete a fine 128 in 132 balls with 19 fours, one of the finest innings he has played for the club – with maturity and sense. Barry were eventually bowled out for 253.

In reply Sully were bowled out for 107 with Kumar top scoring with 21 for the visitors and Nathan Baker taking 4 for 26 and Jake Griffith 4 for 30 as Barry strolled home to an emphatic win and a league double over their old rivals.

Barry Athletic second XI travelled the short distance to Burnham Avenue, Sully, lost the toss and were asked to bat first.

They posted a total of 249 for 7 with Paul Murphy making a fine 71 to go with his two previous centuries at Sully in the two years before.

Nicky Jones hit his first 50 for the club, with Lee Morgan with 33 and Ashley Baker with 32; Gethin Hicks took 4 for 52.

In reply Sully were bowled out for 186 with Russell Thomas (105) and Aaron Emyr (30) being the main scorers for Sully - for the Athletic Paul Murphy took 3 for 38, Aiden Rutherford 2 for 17, Dave Evans 2 for 21 and Maqsood Anwar 2 for 31, resulting in a Barry win for the returning captain Ashley Baker.

This week Barry Athletic first XI will travel to Ebbw Vale, with the second XI entertaining Whitchurch Heath at The Athletic Ground Barry Island.

CELEBRATING

LODGE HOLD ACADEMY FUNDRAISER

PORTKERRY Lodge has, for a second year running, helped to raise funds for a local group, Goshin and Kudo Academy.

It hosted a 'cheap as chips' night at the Barry Masonic Temple, where around 80 guests enjoyed a chip supper, had a flutter on a series of horse races and were royally entertained by local musician, and lodge member, Tony Hill and his band.

A raffle was held with many donated prizes culminating in a grand total raised of £763.50. Organiser Karl Butler, also a Lodge member. Karl wishes to thank Mal and Mary Lucas for all their dedicated hard work in arranging the food and the racing.

The group's shihan, Malcolm Jones, also gave a fitting thank you to all those attending and pledges the monies raised will be used to refit their dojo in Fairfield Street, Barry, where they teach traditional karate in the Goshin style and Japanese MMA in the Kudo style.

Vale players in table tennis action

ON Saturday, July 2, Dan Jones, David Avery and Morgan Day-Davies, represented the Vale in the Gemau Cymru table tennis championships held at the National Sport Centre, Cardiff.

In all, there were 10 different regions from all over Wales competing.

The three Vale players played some great table tennis against tough opposition to finish second overall and picked up silver medals for their efforts.

Welsh football's slogan 'Together Stronger' a message for Wales today!

WE were united in the Senedd on Wednesday, July 6 as we praised the Euro 2016 Welsh team and wished them well for the match that evening with Portugal, following their great win against Belgium.

Much has been said about how the Welsh team not only performed brilliantly, but were wonderful with the fans and their hosts as great sportsmen and champions for Wales.

The Welsh fans were also welcomed with open arms because of their spirit, as well as their courtesy to the people they met across France at every match, with family supporters and all age groups represented.

That's why they also got such a wonderful homecoming when they touched down at Cardiff Airport on Friday afternoon and put Wales on the global media map once again with the tens of thousands who lined the roads and streets from Rhosgoe to Cardiff.

We must cherish that spirit and learn from it with all of us seeing Gareth Bale, a former Whitchurch High School pupil, as our Welsh champion and role model.

I know that those of

us who have been elected to serve our communities must also show that spirit of commitment and integrity as we seek to serve the common good.

I am working to achieve this in my new role as Leader of the House, but also as the Vale Assembly Member supporting people and communities across the Vale with very different needs and interests and wanting to be sure that they can trust their elected representatives to speak up and stand up for them.

I sought to do this at the recent Mind in the Vale AGM, where I welcomed the work of Mind, including their pilot project in Barry working with people to address such issues as depression and anxiety which affect so many people in our community.

MOSQUE VISIT
I also met members of the Muslim Welfare Association at the Barry Mosque with Coun Pam Drake. I invited Assistant Police and Crime Commissioner, Kate Carr, local hate crime police officer Rhys Gronow and executives from Race Equality First to encourage members to report hate crime, which must not be tolerated in any form.

I was reminded how thoughtful our children are as I looked at the Race Equality First calendar in our office, which features the drawings and words of school pupils from the Vale. The July winner is Olwen Stamper aged nine at Ysgol Pen y Garth with a picture of children linking arms across the world saying...

"We are 1 BIG Team Cwtch against Racism" As we continue to do our work to "make the world a better place" (as the late Jo Cox MP said), we must work hard to meet needs and develop policy and laws in Wales which do make a difference.

So thank you to Llamau, Wales' leading charity for homeless young people, which has a base in Barry, for helping us in Welsh Government to meet the needs of young people.

As a result of a campaign supported by Michael Sheen, the Welsh Government responded to a petition on the needs of vulnerable young people, signed by more than 100,000 people, by producing stronger guidance resulting in the Chief Executive Frances Beecher saying last weekend: "Now the guidance in Wales is the strongest in the UK."

Finally, I want to thank Oakfield Primary for inviting me to visit their school and see the new pond which they share with Ysgol Gwaun y Nant, as a result of a Welsh Government community benefit project following the improvement of 234 homes on the Gibbonsdown estate. Local contractors SMK, who are carrying out this improvement work, provided the labour free of charge as part of the Being Greener project, with over £10,000 spent on this wonderful new facility where Coun Lis Burnett and I joined the pupils in 'pond dipping'.

It was a great way to see how we are getting the most benefit out of every £ of Welsh public money we spend to benefit our children and young people and our environment.

PORTHCAWL HEALTH CENTRE: 'THE FACTS'

WE read with interest the front page article (The GEM July 7) regarding the potential for legal challenge of a proposed new medical centre in Porthcawl.

Having access to good health services in Porthcawl is important to us all. I have been working closely with ABMU along with Coun Norah Clarke for Nottage and Coun Michael Clarke for Rest Bay, where they are concerned and working hard to ensure that appropriate transport is available to ensure that residents can conveniently get to the new site.

We would like to share some facts which may help Mr Gaynor to understand why there is a "groundswell of support" across Porthcawl and the potential risks to future health provision in Porthcawl.

Mr Gaynor states that ABMU comments regarding their long term fruitless land search are "palpably false". This is nonsense and closer examination of the facts will demonstrate this.

Facts:

1. ABMU has been trying for 10 years to invest £3.5m in upgrading and expanding the range of community based health services available for residents now and in the future.

2. Readers may have heard of the 'Porthcawl Regeneration and the Owners (Evans) Agreement'. This is a legal agreement entered into some 10 years ago by Bridgend County Borough Council (BCBC) and two landowners to build 1,300 houses along the seafront land from Dock Street right over Sandy Bay to Trecco and share the proceeds.

It runs to nearly 96 acres, and takes in every square yard of land and blade of grass from the back of Hillsborough Place, skirting around the immediate perimeter of the Portway Surgery takes part of Griffin Park and then all the way along behind New Road school through to Trecco.

3. The problem this causes is that the current Portway surgery site is blighted because ABMU cannot get permission to access adjoining land from BCBC to expand their current or build a new health centre there because adjacent land is committed to the Owners' development contract.

4. If you then look around Porthcawl for any other land available there is none; every square yard is blighted by the land agreement.

5. If the proposed site is not developed, then Porthcawl will not have adequate health provision for residents. The current Portway surgery services some 14,000 patients and Dr Eales 2,500 both very close to capacity which would mean turning away new patients.

6. If the new site does not go ahead, there will come a time when Dr Eales retires, so both new patients and Dr Eales' patients will have to transfer to health provision outside Porthcawl in Cornelly or further afield.

The comment in your article referring to a BCBC spokesman is highly misleading where the reference to "The applicant chose to focus on this site due to the urgent need to provide improved health services in Porthcawl". I understand ABMU has been talking to BCBC for over 10 years and I refer readers back to the landlocked 96 acres across Porthcawl.

ABMU is focusing on the Mallards Reach site because if it does not, then there is a risk to any future health service in Porthcawl.

Part of the reason that the car parking provision was changed is because BCBC planners in discussion with ABMU considered the number of parking spaces required for the size of the proposed health centre.

Following this, a modified parking plan was submitted, which included securing offsite parking provision for staff and reducing the size of the development and not making all the services they had planned available.

Mr Gaynor is quite right that the 'Globe option' has some drawbacks. ABMU submitted a plan to develop part of the green opposite to accommodate parking but BCBC turned that down as it may need the space for future development of the land opposite. It will be developed in the end, so why not include it in the health centre plan?

In our discussions with ABMU and the practice lead, we have found them very understanding about the issues related to local parking and access by Rest Bay and Nottage residents and some practical ideas are emerging.

For example, the practice is looking at patient attendance plans to minimise the number of cars on site, opening hours will be during the normal working day, the potential for 'Access Only' restrictions into Mallards Reach, and BCBC is consulting nearby residents about increased yellow lines and parking restrictions.

At the end of the day, the Mallards Reach site is not ideal, but we must be under no illusion that if it does not go ahead there then a new health centre will not happen - because there is nowhere else.

The way forward is to work together to maximise the positives and minimise the negatives.

Tennis club opens route to Wimbledon!

IN the wake of Andy Murray's second Wimbledon championship you can now start your journey to Wimbledon greatness in Llantwit Major!

Llantwit Major Tennis Club is now a registered tennis club with Tennis Wales and is inviting members to join.

The club will be holding two open social tennis sessions so that members of the public and come along to the club have a game of tennis and meet a few members to experience what club membership is like before hopefully joining.

There will be an adult social tennis session on Fri day, July 22, 6pm-8pm, and a family tennis session on Saturday, July 16, 2pm-4pm.

During both sessions members will be available to provide tennis kit so you can have game with a friend or with one of the members. A spokeswoman said:

"The Friday and Saturday socials are to be regular slots in the summer calendar so that members can turn up and play on a weekly basis. Non-members will also be very welcome to attend the club's social sessions each week by paying a visitor fee (£2/£1 adult/junior).

"Joining LMTCC is great value, at £20 for adults and just £10 for juniors you will get free access to the courts, attend weekly social sessions for free, discounted rates on coaching and you will be able to go into our Wimbledon ticket ballot! If you are interested in joining, please contact info@valetennisacademy.co.uk who can assist. You can also find Llantwit Major Tennis Club on Facebook and Twitter.

"LMTCC also has a series of tennis camps for children running during the holiday period. Full details can be found on www.valetennisacademy.co.uk or by calling 07909 987359."

Maesteg Rotary Club handover

AT a meeting held in the Cross Inn, Cwmfelin, Maesteg, on July 11, Mr Gwynfor Phillips was installed as president for the year 2016/17.

He gave a breakdown of his intentions for the year, which included a number of youth activities involving 'Youth Speaks', young musician and young photographer of the year.

Maesteg Rotary Club has been established for more than 70 years, and in that time has raised many thousands of pounds for local and international charities.

However, like a lot of societies, is suffering from a lack of membership. Anyone, male or female, who can spare an hour each fortnight and would like to become a member and enjoy the fellowship and help charity they can contact Gwynfor Phillips on 07815511697.

At the same meeting, Talfyn Harries was installed as president-elect.

Barry Athletic FC under-15 squad rounds off season with presentation and tournament

BARRY Athletic under-15s rounded off their season with a recent presentation evening, swiftly followed the next day by a tournament.

The guest of honour at the presentation was Charlotte Williams, the mayor of Barry, who kindly agreed to present the players with their awards. The management team thanked the parents for their support over the season and also thanked current sponsors, RIM Motors for their help. The players were also congratulated for their efforts over the last 11 months or so.

The main awards of the presentation went to: Sam Montgomery - coaches' recognition, Harri Edwards - top goalscorer, supporters' player of the year - Dan Barnett, most improved player of the year - Cian Williams-McCarthy, players' player of the year and managers' player of the year - Rhys Woolmer.

The presentation closed with the mayor offering some very kind words to the coaches for their efforts in continuing to provide a sound environment for some of the youth of Barry in which to progress at football.

A great night was rounded off with the players and parents sharing the magical occasion of Wales beating Belgium at the European Championship.

The following day, the Athletic competed in the Bridgend Town FC tournament. The group stage saw the Athletic pitted against Lisvane Panthers, Crusaders FC and old friends Pencoed BC.

The Barry side won all three games with goals coming from Bright, Woolmer, Montgomery and a hat-trick from Mellars.

Local rivals Cowbridge Town were next up in the semi-final. The game was a very physical affair with neither side managing to break the deadlock.

The game proceeded to a penalty shoot-out with keeper Mayor being the star, saving two and scoring the all-important winner. The final followed with the Barry side competing against Monmouth Town.

As most finals go, this was a tense affair but as soon as the Athletic got their rhythm going with their passing game they soon found themselves 1-0 up with a well-taken Mellars goal.

Monmouth managed to get themselves back into the game just before half-time with a fortunate run of the ball. The second-half saw the Athletic have the better of the exchanges but found an inspired keeper in goals for the opposition.

With the game edging towards another shoot-out, Corrigan launched a throw-in towards the Monmouth goal which was met by the head of Barnett who managed to flick the ball on and over the reach of the keeper.

Well done to all the players who took part, it was a real team effort.

Squad: Matthew Mayor, Sam Montgomery, Jack Such, James Corrigan, Alfie Davies, Luke Vowles, Joe Allwood, Connor Bright, Dan Barnett, Evan Wells, Rhys Woolmer and Joe Mellars.

Cowbridge RFC prepare for new season

IT'S hard to believe that it was just over seven weeks ago that Cowbridge first XV completed their final fixture of the 2015-16 season at a wind and rain-swept Tonyrefail.

Now it is just eight weeks to the start of the 2016-17 season on Saturday, September 3. We still don't have the fixture list from the WRU, but do know that Llantwit Major and Wattstown come down from Division 3 East Central A, replacing promoted Taffs Well and Abercwmboi, and Old Penarthians and Cardiff Saracens come up from East Central C, replacing demoted Llandrindod Wells and Glyncoch.

In preparation for the new season, training starts in earnest at the club at 7pm this Thursday, July 14. Coaches Leigh Davies and Dan Williams will be looking to improve on our fifth place finish – the best for several years.

There were some fine results last season with a small squad and the coaches will particularly looking to increase the size of the squad for the whole season so we can compete in every game.

There's a hardcore of players who gave their all last season, but we need many more so if you're available for the whole season or just part of it, then please come down and join the training.

You'll be given a warm welcome and can look forward to some exciting rugby.

Schools flock to beach - for cricket!

PRIMARY schools from across the Vale flocked to Whitmore Bay earlier this month for the annual beach cricket festival.

The festival was organised by the Vale's Sports Development team in memory of Pete Hardwick, who developed many young cricketers in Cardiff and the Vale.

Barry Island's Whitmore Bay saw more than 90 pupils from nine different primary schools take part in the cricket festival. The pupils left their buckets and spades at home, preferring bats and balls as they prepared to face rival pupils at the sandy crease.

Primary schools from the Vale taking part in the festival included Romilly, Wick & Marcross, Llansannor, Iolo Morganwg, Llancarfan, Fairfield and Barry Island.

There were no winners or losers on the day; it was all about getting the pupils involved in the sport, and them enjoying their day at the beach.

As well as cricket, the pupils had the chance to try their hand at boccia, a game similar to boules. Boccia was originally created for people with cerebral palsy, but is now widely played by individuals of all abilities.

For more information on sports development across the Vale, visit www.valeofglamorgan.gov.uk/sportsdevelopment

Professional performances from Penarth ballerinas

YOUNG ballet dancers from the Penarth area have been selected to join the English Youth Ballet in a professional production in Cardiff next month.

The girls were selected after an extensive audition process and will perform in The Sleeping Beauty in the New Theatre.

The girls are: Elizabeth-Hope Angove (nine) from Sully Primary School (NPSD); Eleanor Smalley (nine) from Dinas Powys Primary (NPSD); Amora Strangemore-Jones (11) from Pen-y-Garth Primary (MSMSD)

NPSD – Nicola Peros School of Dance.

MSMSD – Mandy & Shirley Morris School of Dance.

Amora Strangemore-Jones said: "I started dancing when I was 2 years old. I did it in a little baby class because some of my friends went but they eventually all left and I just carried on."

The Sleeping Beauty will be presented by English Youth Ballet at the New Theatre, Cardiff from August 12-13.

Amora Strangemore-Jones said: "I started dancing when I was 2 years old. I did it in a little baby class because some of my friends went but they eventually all left and I just carried on."

"I am so excited about dancing on the big stage with English Youth Ballet. There are going to be loads of people in the audience. Some of my friends are coming to watch."

"When I am older I would like to do dance. I don't want to be a ballerina – I think I would like to do contemporary dance."

The Sleeping Beauty will be presented by English Youth Ballet at the New Theatre, Cardiff from August 12-13.

The ballet will star international principal dancers – Amy Drew, Adele Robbins, Monica Tapiador, Richard Read, Brenden Bratlic, Oliver Speers and Steven Wheeler.

All the soloists and corps de ballet roles in the production will be performed by 100 dancers (aged eight to 18) from south Wales.

Tickets can be purchased at the Box Office 029 2087 8889 or online www.newtheatrecardiff.co.uk

Millwood beat Cowbridge in Munro Cup

ENTERTAINING the team from Cowbridge for this latest round of the Munro Cup, the home side took no time at all to start the proceedings by taking a nine shot lead after the first four ends by the score 17-8.

There was a mighty tussle going on into the fifth to the ninth ends, for the score was 34-32 for the home side.

Millwood soon settled the matters by picking up a welcoming 12 shot margin at the end of the 13th end and led 50-38.

Millwood finally hung on to their overall winning shot total to run out fairly comfortable winners by taking the game 71-61 for Cowbridge. After the latest results not going Millwood's way, it was a relief to win this latest game.

Once again a big win by Brian Crockford's rink four certainly did help matters! Thank you to Cowbridge for the hard fought game, and all who participated.

Point-to-point's John passes away

POINT-to-point and horse racing enthusiasts in the Vale will be saddened to learn of the death of Llangenor Hunt stalwart John Tudor, of Tyn-y-Bettws Farm, Bettws, who died peacefully at the Princess of Wales Hospital on June 29.

He was well-known on the hunt racing circuit and was the beloved husband of Betty and much loved father of William, Janet and Sian, father-in-law to Anne, Tudor and Chris, loving Grampa to all his grandchildren and great-grandchildren and a dear brother to Mary and Billy.

He owned a number of winning racehorses and point-to-pointers over the years and these included Zatopek, Kesslin, Tiger Rag and St Helen's Boy. John was aged 89 and his funeral and service took place at Cychurch Crematorium on Tuesday, July 12.

LOCAL TRAINERS SUCCESS
CanI Call You Back, an eight-year-old bay gelding trained by Llancarfan's Evan Williams and ridden by stable jockey Paul Moloney, landed the Bet Fred Two-Mile Handicap Chase at Uttoxeter Wednesday.

In a field of 12 runners, CanI Call You Back was made the 7-2 favourite and scored by two-and-a-half lengths from 25-1 chance Oscatara.

At the recent Chepstow fixture, Bernisdale trained by Bridgend's John Flint and partnered by Daniel Muscutt won the Fuseland Electrical And Mechanical Handicap over one mile and four furlongs by a short head from Ring Eye.

Bernisdale was returned at odds of 14-1 and his trainer has been in fine form of late.

At Stratford on the same day, Ebbw Vale's Dai Burchell was successful with Cruchain and One For The Boss. Both were ridden by R T Dunne who the former starting at 10-1 and the latter at 25-1.

James King, who has been riding in Welsh point-to-points this past season, scored on Sam Noir for Welsh trainer Peter Bowen.

Followers of Bargoed's David Probert had plenty to smile about at Brighton. He rode a fourtimer with Assertive Agent (6-1), Curious Fox (14-1), Fashion Parade (8-1) and Noverre To Go (15-2).

Schools finals held at bowling club

Richard George.

LLANTWIT MAJOR Bowls Club held the Llantwit Major schools finals on Tuesday, July 5.

After four weeks of coaching, St Iltyds schools and Ysgol Y Ddraig attained a very high standard of bowls.

It was Neville Young, who approached the Vale Sports Coordinator some 22 years ago who started it all, with about 2,300 children going through the coaching scheme.

Although only a small percentage join the club, they have all had a background to the game of bowls and hopefully will take up the sport at a later date. Neville is now standing down from this position for a well earned rest.

Mrs Sage's class from St Iltyds won the final and received the shield and medals for coming first, Mrs Crowther's class from Ysgol y Ddraig came second and Mr Palmer's class from St Iltyds came third and Mrs Jones' class from Ysgol Y Ddraig came fourth.

Coun Gwyn John presented the shield and medals to the children, but firstly came a small presentation to Neville for his dedication to the scheme for over 22 years.

He not only has had almost a 100 per cent attendance every Tuesday and Thursday, but has visited the schools to ensure there was no clash of dates and was at the club before 8.30am to place woods, mats and jacks on the green.

A big thank you also to all the coaches and helpers over the years too numerous to mention, but this year thanks to helpers Mike Harmon, Ian Williamson, Geoff Timms, Naomi and Bronwen Baelz and coaches Mike Adams, Etta Gray, Val and John Neville Young with Coun Gwyn John.

Ball and of course our motivator Neville.

Individual thanks must go to Val, for coaching when well enough, but who also doubled up to make sure the teapot was always ready before and after the coaching sessions; to the ladies who served tea and coffee on finals day, and to Mike Adams for organising the food on finals day and his input to the coaching scheme not only 9am-12 noon, but later on Tuesdays to help Neville.

Anyone interested should contact the club or Mike Adams, who has agreed to take on Neville's roll as organiser of coaching. Mike also doubles up, along with Etta, as Child Protection Officers.

Etta turned up to most sessions in spite of her recent loss of Richie, who was part of the coaching sessions for many years.

It was also rewarding to have Naomi and Bronwen, at 24 and 21, part of the team.

With Kyle Garrison at 24, the future of bowls in the town appears secure.

A success story of the caching is Richard George, who we congratulate as despite having a metal pin in his left arm, succeeded in winning the Vale under-25 singles competition and who now will represent the Vale against the whole of Wales at Llanrindod Wells in mid-August.

Well done Rich, and all the best in your new venture. WJB

Busy times for the Cowbridge bowling teams

ANOTHER good shots. Rink scores: Lynda Wilson, Carol Davies, Diane Lloyd and Sylvia Hole 13-13; Sian Lewis, Carly Davies, Phyllis Prive and Dorothy Pritchard 12-17. Match score: Cowbridge 25, Dinas Powis 30.

A good week showing that the ladies section has strength in depth. Well done!

The men played two games both away from home.

On Wednesday for the Munro Cup game we were away to the Millwood Club in Barry. Two of our players Terry Williams and Tom Purnell were playing on a grass green for the first time.

Team-wise Cowbridge had two good rink wins but these were offset by two rinks losing. Overall there was a shot difference of 10 shots.

Rink scores: Ron Frayling, Terry Williams, Tony Lewis and Clive Pritchard 16-10; Michael Bradley, Mick Davey, Rob Lewis and Dennis Snelling 7-31; Gerry Lloyd, Tom Purnell, Brian Williams and Guy Morton 13-22; Mansel Davey, Bryan Hole, Brian Williams and Colin Wilson 25-8. Match score: Cowbridge 61, Millwood 71.

For our league game we were away to bottom of the league team Beddau. By losing heavily, and on all four rinks, we have now taken Beddau's place.

We will need home wins to move up the table, starting this Saturday against St Albans. MB

Another two rink Evening League game was played on Friday away to a strong Dinas Powis team. Cowbridge drew on one rink and lost on the other by only five

League leaders are too strong for bowlers

LLANTWIT MAJOR men bowlers faced Taffs Well in Saturday's league fixture; the visitors were unbeaten league leaders and they proved too strong for Llantwit, winning on three rinks, 79-63.

Steve Booker's rink were Llantwit's only winners - after taking a three shot lead on the fifth end, Llantwit then stuck on the same score for another four ends to go seven shots in arrears.

Llantwit fought their way back to take the lead again on the 17th end only to lose it again on the 19th end; two magnificent final ends by Llantwit clinched victory by four shots.

Graham Jones' rink won the first two ends but a close game then ensued with the lead changing frequently.

Llantwit were two shots down on the 19th end but a score of two by Llantwit on the next end levelled the score, only for Taffs Well to score one on the final end to win by one shot.

Neville Young's rink trailed from the start and were never in contention.

By the 10th end Llantwit were 10 shots down, but some good ends by Llantwit near the end reduced the deficit to seven shots.

Charles Hiscock's rink had a slow start until the fifth end when they picked up a score of three.

They were still trailing until the 11th end when they scored five shots to take the lead; after this, it was all Taffs Well, who came out comfortable winners. NY

Barry Town United unveils its pre-season fixtures list

BARRY Town United have announced their full pre-season campaign, with matches against opponents from the Welsh Premier League, Newport County, Cardiff City and England.

Manager Gavin Chesterfield and his players start their preparations this Saturday (July 16), with a run-out against top flight newcomers Cardiff Metropolitan University at Cyncoed Campus.

Jenner Park then hosts an attractive pre-season opener on Tuesday evening (July 19), as Barry entertain a Newport County XI for the first time since the 1990s.

Continuing the run of tough tests for Chesterfield's men, the Bluebirds are back in town on Saturday, July 23, as Barry welcome a Cardiff City XI for the fifth successive season.

Meanwhile, former manager Gary Barnett will bring his Moreton Rangers to Jenner Park on Saturday, July 30, 20 years after leading the Town to a memorable UEFA Cup run in 1996.

Barry complete their pre-season programme with trips to Ely Rangers on Tuesday, August 2, and Garden Village on Saturday, August 7, with the Welsh League Division One campaign beginning at Jenner Park seven days later, against newly-promoted Undy Athletic.

Jenner Park then hosts the first stage of the Welsh League Cup on Tuesday, August 16, as the Town entertain Briton Ferry, before the opening round of the Word Cup sees the Welsh League Division One runners-up travel to Cambrian and Clydach Vale in September.

The full schedule for 2016-17 will be confirmed shortly, with advance tickets for the club's pre-season matches at Jenner Park now on sale from ticketsource.co.uk/Barry. Supporters are advised that admission will be available at the turnstiles for each of these fixtures.

In terms of personnel, Chesterfield has retained the vast majority of players that helped the club to within four points of the Welsh League Division One championship last season, including the likes of fan favourites James Saddler, James Dixon, Troy Greening, Lee Baldock, Michael Hartley and Bobby Briers.

With Louis Feeley moving to Cinderford Town, Barry have meanwhile acted to strengthen by recruiting Welsh League title-winning defender Luke Cooper, with Cooper expected to make his Town debut against the current champions in this weekend's first friendly. AC

Mother and son's golfing success

IT'S been said that success lies in the genes and that has certainly been the case for a young golfer who recently beat over 100 adult members at Radyr Golf Club to lift the much coveted captain's prize recently.

Ceri Vaughn Jones (13) was faced with stiff competition when he teed off with his father, Vaughn, to challenge for a trophy which in recent years has been won by experienced adult members.

Due to an exceptional back nine from Ceri, who is a member of the Glamorgan County under-14s team, the father and son pairing just managed to land the victory with 43 points due to a better back nine.

If that was not enough reason to celebrate, not to be outdone, Ceri's mother, Sian Ellen Jones, was a member of the Radyr team who reached the final of the Welsh Ladies Team Championships (Plate) at Wenvoe Castle. Both Ceri and his mother are pupils of St Andrew's Major professional John Hastings, who has high hopes for his 13-year-old pupil.

"Ceri had a handicap of 26 when he started a structured training programme with me last year," said John. "He has come down to 14 and by the end of the year it will be lower. He can't afford to be complacent now though as his sister Enfyf (10) has just acquired a 54 handicap and could well end up being the star of this talented golfing family!"

Brian's Blast From The Past – 1983

This week, The GEM's Brian Lee takes a trip back in time to 1983.

UNDER the heading 'Cheers Bring Shame' this is what I had to say about the Ystrad Hunt point-to-point, which was held in the Vale of Glamorgan.

"In all the years I have been following point-to-point racing I have never known anyone to delight in the fall of a horse.

"Last Tuesday, at the Ystrad Hunt Point-to-Point during the Ladies' Open race, it happened.

"Some sections of the crowd cheered when Derrick Llewellyn's National Clover, which was leading Norman Jones' Drumman by about 15 lengths, fell at the third last fence. One can only assume that these 'hunt racing enthusiasts' had backed Dumman and were cheering through their pockets.

"All right, so the fences are there to be jumped and one would not wish to take any credit away from Drumman who, incidentally, had run in the Ladies' point-to-point Championship at Chepstow the previous day.

"But National Clover's owner, Mr Llewellyn, who has helped to put Welsh point-to-pointing on the map as a rider, owner and trainer must have been hurt by the crowd's behaviour – not to mention the feelings of the young rider Mandy Lingard.

"National Clover, Llandeilo Farmers' with seven wins behind her this season, needed that win to put her in the running for the Grand Marnier Championship as two horses share the lead with eight wins. Thankfully, National Clover appeared all right after her fall.

"Not so lucky was Gerrards Cross, which had to be put down after falling in the earlier Adjacent Hunts race."

Nothing to cheer about there, that's for sure.

Under the heading 'Llewellyn Double', I reported that: "Cowbridge farmer John Llewellyn is well on his way to winning the national men's point-to-point riders' championship. A double with Friday's Meadow and Garrigill at the Llandeilo Farmers' meeting has put him two wins ahead of Peter Greenall and Joey Newton.

"Friday's Meadow, the long odds-on favourite, won by 20 lengths from Corragio and Garrigill, a 10-1 chance, scored by four lengths from Loch Raven. The favourite, Flap, finished a further three lengths away in third place.

"Llewellyn, who has ridden 16 winners this season, was beaten two lengths by Newton's mount Ryedale in the PTPOA race when partnering John Jones' Brock. Newton made the long trip from Leicestershire pay off by also riding the winner of the men's open race with Barleydale, which beat Tim Rooney's mount Quizmaster by six lengths.

"The ladies' open race went to Derrick Llewellyn's National Clover which was ridden by Mandy Lingard and St Athan's John Thomas, riding Montana Boy, won the maiden race by four lengths from Final Flirtation. There were 14 runners and Montana Boy was a 5-1 chance."

Rowing ladies are doing it for themselves!

BARRY Sea Rowing Ladies were not going to let a little thing such as a lack of a boat stop them from entering a sea race at Wiseman's Bridge near Saundersfoot.

After some pleas for help to the Sea Rowing community we were kindly offered the loan of a boat from our generous hosts Wiseman's Bridge Rowing Club.

The ladies headed down west on what turned out to be a glorious sunny day with bright blue sparkling sea to race on, proving that the sun does always shine on race days.

The ladies' race was the first of the day and we faced a particularly tricky beach start. Unfortunately due to close proximity of other boats at the start line we were involved in collision when another team had taken a course into the side of us!

After a chaotic few minutes we managed to de-tangle our oars and our boat was off. The shaky start definitely cost dearly in terms of time but the ladies showed so much grit and determination that we clawed our way back into the race and we managed to hold off two other teams all the way through the course.

Everybody was well and truly spent when we crossed the finishing line in 14th place but the ladies had the race of their lives keeping well within the pack after the disappointing start.

Darcey impresses on tour

VALE Resort golfer Darcey Harry typified the top scoring at the second Welsh Junior Tour event, held at Carmarthen Golf Club, as she led the way in the under-14 girls' age group.

She had an impressive score of 77 playing off 17 handicap which amassed 48 stableford points. Following closely behind were Megan Vineall from Newport and Kasumi Tran from Tenby with 44 and 41 points respectively.

Brodi Lewis from Pyle & Kenfig won the under-10s section, having been placed third at Mold, with 61 points just edging out Abergele's Charlie McKinney. The next event will be held at Lakeside Golf Club in Mid Wales followed by the final regional event at Virginia Park Golf Club in Caerphilly.

The top 20 players in the Order of Merit in each age category will then be invited to play in the Tour Final to be held at St Pierre near Chepstow.

Cowbridge CC denied outright win

A magnificent 123 by Michael Lloyd and a rock-like 52 by Tom Merilaht set up a Cowbridge total of 216 which proved easily enough to play Dafen out of any chance of victory as the home side reached 116-9 when the umpires took the teams off.

That decision from the umpires may well have cost Cowbridge outright victory as there were still three overs to play. It certainly cost the first XI five points on the winning draw differential.

Nevertheless, a 14 point haul was a useful reward, but the prevailing mood was one of utter frustration as Cowbridge's feeling the conditions had not worsened, but had remained pretty well the same throughout the Dafen innings.

Cowbridge have played some good cricket in the past month with only one reverse to the champions- elect - a top half position remains possible.

The match on Saturday exemplified the way the team has begun to gel together. Merilaht continues to be the anchor allowing the likes of Mike Lloyd to play an aggressive game.

The attack of Tom Harper and Adam Wood backed up by Sam Russell and Rian Thomas plus quality off spinner Jake George has become a solid outfit. The arrival of Matt Harper as wicket keeper has also been a bonus.

The frustrations of Saturday for these players will soon be forgotten but the innings of Michael Lloyd will live long in the memory.

SECOND XI WIN IN CLOSE ENCOUNTER
Following a convincing 10-wicket win the previous week against Porthcawl due to excellent batting performances from Dave Gascoyne (60*) and Jonty Webb (54*) Cowbridge second XI were hoping for another victory as they hosted Baglan at the Athletic Ground last Saturday.

A win was achieved although it was not as straightforward and all the team spirit was required to get the team over the line.

Batting first, Cowbridge scored 200 for three wickets in their allocated 40 overs. Again Gascoyne and Webb opened the innings and put on 100 before Jonty was dismissed for a well-made 46.

Gascoyne continued his excellent form making a flawless 108* and was ably supported by Matthew Keating who made an elegant 24 runs.

Their partnership, followed by contributions from Rob Thomas and Joe Russell enabled Cowbridge to reach their competitive total.

In reply, Baglan got off to a solid but quiet start as John Gilbert and young Heath Webb bowled accurately with the new ball restricting the opposition to just 45 runs from the first 15 overs.

However, the momentum soon shifted in Baglan's favour as some indifferent bowling and fielding followed and after 30 overs with only one wicket down, the opposition had progressed to 150.

The game was in the balance but the dismissal of Baglan's opening batsmen for 104 courtesy of an excellent catch by Guy Parker, followed by two excellent run-outs by Keating and Russell left Baglan needing just 25 runs from the final four overs.

This proved to be five runs too many and Baglan finished on 195 for 6 giving Cowbridge their seventh victory of the season and now sees them sitting in third place, just four points behind the league leaders Llanelli.

THE Munro Cup match at Victoria Park, between Cadoxton and Sully Sports, resulted with both sides winning two wickets each, but the aggregate going in favour of the visitors.

Howard Craven's rink scored a '4' on the opening end against Keith Roman's rink, but a '4' against on the sixth end took away the lead. However the advantage was recovered on the 12th and held until the end.

Don Kuhnell also scored a '4' on the first end against Charles Coomber, and the ascendancy was held throughout the game. After 11 ends the score had reached 18-5, but the visitors rallied in the closing stages and were successful in five of the last seven, very tight, ends, with one end tied, but not enough for victory.

John Jones skipped against Bob Matthews and struggled to stay in the game, scoring just a single during the opening six ends. A mini revival brought six shots in three ends, but a further four ends were lost, before a spirited reply improved the position with eight shots in the final ends.

On the final rink skip Kelvin Chedzoy met previous Cadoxton player Graham Brown who had an advantage of knowing the green better than the home players. This showed throughout the game and a comprehensive result went in the visitors favour.

Scores: Craven, D Hammond, I Robertson, G Carstairs, D Goddard, H Craven 18-14 R Knight, P Holland, B Whyman, K Romans; J Stacey, G Solomon, D Evans, D Kuhnell 19-13 B Daniels, M Morgan, G Craven, I Heppenstall Trickett, C Coomber; E Heppenstall, J T Kaged, S Downer; R Papoutsou, D Fanning, J Jones 15-23 D Austin, M Stafford, A Collard, B Matthews; R Morris, I Heppenstall, R Byrne, K Chedzoy 9-21 J Kirk, P Robbins, G Currie, G Brown. Final score: 61-71.

CADOXTON A V CENTRAL - ML7
Cadoxton A side came out on top in this home ML7 match with Central.

Rob Byrne skipped a winning rink against Tom Goddard. The home side took an early 6-0 advantage, only to drop behind 8-9 on the 13th end. However six of the last eight ends went in favour of the home side.

Ian Heppenstall had a comfortable win on his rink with S Downer as the opposite number.

With the score at 11-9, a '5' boosted the home score which opened a substantial lead and improved even more in the final ends.

Roy Harding scored a '6' on the 13th end, to boost his close advantage against John Wathes, and held the advantage to the end.

Central had a player short in the final rink which was skipped by Don Goddard against David Fanning, but they managed to win their game after losing a quarter of their score.

Scores: Heppenstall, J Papoutsou, J Jones, D Fanning 14-16 M Heale, G Carstairs, D Goddard, H Craven 18-14 R Knight, P Holland, B Whyman, K Romans; J Stacey, G Solomon, D Evans, D Kuhnell 19-13 B Daniels, M Morgan, G Craven, I Heppenstall Trickett, C Coomber; E Heppenstall, J T Kaged, S Downer; R Papoutsou, D Fanning, J Jones 15-23 D Austin, M Stafford, A Collard, B Matthews; R Morris, I Heppenstall, R Byrne, K Chedzoy 9-21 J Kirk, P Robbins, G Currie, G Brown. Final score: 61-71.

CADOXTON V CYFARTHFA CASTLE - ML5
Cadoxton continued with their good form in this ML5 match at home to the league leaders, Cyfarthfa Castle.

Howard Craven's rink again completed a good win. They reached 13-2, which included a '6' and a '4', but wavered on this score for four ends, while the advantage was reduced. However the good team work returned and they regained supremacy despite a '4' against, near the end.

The visitors struggled against the rink skipped by John Jones, which allowed home domination for seven ends and reaching a score of 10-2. The remaining ends were shared with eight shots scored by both sides, mainly singles.

At the halfway stage, Roy Harding's rink was trailing by 10 shots to 5. Nevertheless they completed another rink win with a strong finish to sneak home by two shots.

Kelvin Chedzoy skipped a weakened rink in place of the normal one, with three regulars not available. However they had a good start.

They were level at 5 each after 6 ends when they boosted their chances with a '5', followed by two singles. Unfortunately the visitors started to get used to the green and scored steadily to end up comfortable winners.

Scores: W Craven, D Hammond, I Robertson, H Craven 24-17; S Conway, S Clarke, R Byrne, K Chedzoy 15-23; E Heppenstall, J Papoutsou, D Jeffries, J Jones 18-10; P Swannick, I Heppenstall, D Brook, R Harding 20-18. Final score: 77-68.

CADOXTON V RHOOSE - ML5
Cadoxton had the difficult task from changing from playing on their heavy green to the fast all-weather green at Rhoose. The vast change did not have a favourable outcome with all four rinks losing.

Don Kuhnell's rink performed reasonably well but with Tony Lages, the opposing skip making a shot continuously for 13 ends, with good bowls, or at times lucky, the visitors trailed 20-3.

At this stage after a winning end the visitors changed the tactics and the mat was brought well up the green, which changed the game dramatically, but too late to overcome the big deficit for the remaining seven winning ends.

John Jones rink did make a better start, with Ron Ball his opposing skip and trailed by just two shots, 7-9 with 11 ends played. However a '5' against on the next opened a gap which increased in the final stages.

Howard Craven's rink met the rink skipped by Les Parson and failed to score during the first five ends, when an 11 shot lead was built against them. The remainder of the game was much closer, when the pace was mastered, with 12 shots scored with 14 against.

Roy Harding had a much better opening, and when a 9-1 advantage was completed it looked to be the only rink to master the conditions. However a lapse, when two 4's and a '5' were conceded took away the ascendancy.

They were still in with a chance trailing by just two shots but a disastrous final five ends produced 17 shots against including two '6's'.

Scores: W Craven, D Hammond, I Robertson, H Craven 12-25 L Willmot, D Shackell, M White, L Parsons; P Swannick, I Heppenstall, D Brook, R Harding 18-36 M Banks, J Wood, C Ashdown, G Lages; J Stacey, D Evans, K Chedzoy, D Kuhnell 12-21 P Watts, C Dance, H Jupp, T Lages; E Heppenstall, J Papoutsou, R Byrne, J Jones 11-34 R Behren, R Boardman, T Martin, R Ball. Final score: 53-106.

Two recent Munro Cup matches were postponed, at Cowbridge due to heavy rain, and at home to Penarth because of the clash with Wales' European Championship semi-final against Portugal.

Lady bowlers take pleasure from defeat

ON Tuesday Llantwit Major lady bowlers visited Cowbridge again - this time for a Cowbridge Shield game.

Although losing on two rinks by a total of three points and drawing on the third, Llantwit ladies were pleased with their games; next year we are hoping for a couple of winning rinks.

Scores: Liz Crouch, Marilyn Gomma, Julie Molloy, Dilys Hurley 16-18; Edna Hardie, Mo Andrews, Carol Willmot, Helen Nixon 14-14; Kay Jones, Margaret Horgan, Eryl Nicholls, Margaret Morgan, 15-16 - Helen really got into her stride playing skip.

On Thursday, Murch

Dinas Powis came to Llantwit for their return match in the league.

Kay Jones, Pat Brown, Margaret Morgan and Etta Gray, although getting a four on the second end, faced a Murch rink who settled and progressed steadily, gaining a good lead by the 12th and won 13-22.

Edna Hardie, Naomi Baelz, Helen Nixon and Carol Willmot, six up after two ends, were unable to stop Murch taking a steady lead and lost 13-21.

A different story on the rink of Liz Crouch, Marilyn Gomma, Dilys Hurley and Julie Molloy - they went into the lead from the start, increasing it steadily throughout the game and winning 22-14. Well done.

Tournament starts at Barry chess club

THE South Wales International Chess Open tournament commenced last Thursday.

This is a 10-round Swiss style tournament spread over a week. There were 58 entrants from Wales, England, Ireland, Denmark, Bulgaria and Iceland amongst others.

The strength of the tournament can be indicated by the presence of five GMs, three IMs, four FMs and two WFM.

Barry Chess Club was represented by Nigel Ralphs (ranked 25th), nominal player Lee Davis (ranked 30th), Matt Parry (ranked 32nd) and Stephen Bonnutto (ranked 53rd).

At the time of writing, only two rounds had been completed. In the first round Matt and Lee both lost to GMS, Nigel recorded a victory, but the standout result came from Stephen in earning a draw against Juan Rodriguez. Stephen has a rating of approximately 1400 while Juan has a rating of 2020; I will be surprised if anyone can better Stephen's ranking result.

Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club, St. Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

THOUSANDS SALUTE THEIR WELSH HEROES

Portugal break our hearts... but the future is brighter than ever for Welsh football

The Welsh heroes take their final applause in France prior to their homecoming last Friday. ALL PICTURES BY HUW EVANS AGENCY

THE mood in the aftermath of Wales' Euro 2016 semi-final defeat to eventual winners Portugal was best summed up by a fan leaving the Stade de Lyon that evening - "I couldn't be happier if we'd won the game."

It's a statement that goes against the grain a little bit; after all football fans and players are programmed to view defeats in this manner with anger, frustration and sadness - yet the only tears on display would certainly have been ones of joy and pride rather than disappointment and recrimination. It nails the reason why Wales have been such a breath of fresh air in this tournament, and off the pitch; the early 'happy-to-be-there' mentality disguised a steely resolve in the playing squad and management that we weren't purely there to make up the numbers, that we weren't a team benefitting from UEFA's largesse in increasing the size of the competition.

Prior to the tournament Wales were accused of being 'Bale + 10', a 'one-man team', and while the Real Madrid star makes a huge difference to the team, it was inspiring to see players step up to the plate and deliver when they needed to.

The likes of Hal Robson Kanu, Joe Allen and Aaron Ramsey all came of age in this tournament and took control when teams denied Bale the space needed to work his magic. As the tournament wore on there was the palpable sense that maybe, just maybe, we could be in the running to lift the trophy, and after that 3-1 win over Belgium that belief dribbled its way down to the supporters. Of course, Portugal put the spanner in the works, but neither the players nor the manager himself allowed themselves to be downhearted; disappointed perhaps, that Portugal's nous and game management ultimately proved to be the decisive factor, but that comes with experience and this Welsh team, already having built a remarkably powerful chemistry and team ethic, now have that under their belt.

As Chris Coleman remarked after the game: "As much as I've told them that they should be proud of themselves, the nation is proud of them, they're still devastated. That speaks volumes for them and they'll get stronger from this experience. I always thought that whenever the time was to bow out it would hurt, but I didn't expect it to hurt this much. It was just one game too far for us."

Gareth Bale, who worked hard to try and get the team back into the game, said: "We fought until the last second and we are sorry we couldn't get to the final, but we gave it everything. It's been an amazing journey. We look forward to the future."

Bale's excitement at what the future holds should be shared by everyone; after all, this success can be a springboard to even more success and, hopefully, qualification for the 2018 World Cup in Russia.

The road to Russia begins on September 4 at home to Moldova, and with a group that sees Wales also pitted against the Republic of Ireland, Austria, Serbia and Georgia, hopes are high that having banished the hoodoo of qualifying for a major tournament with such force, their first qualification for a World Cup in 60 years is more than achievable; there is the caveat that this will likely be Chris Coleman's last qualifying campaign as manager, but hopefully he'll be signing off in Russia rather than before a Wales-less tournament begins.

The disappointment at full-time was plain to see, as Chris Coleman and Ashley Williams console each other.

What is interesting is where those qualifying games will be played. With interest in the national team at an all-time high, there is a suggestion that games will be moved to the Principality Stadium; while it may be tempting to the FAW to monetise this goodwill, it would be, in my opinion, a foolhardy step.

The Cardiff City Stadium has become a fortress for this team, and a full house of 33,000 would be far more intimidating for away sides than 50,000 (at best) in the Principality Stadium.

Add into that the players themselves expressing their preference for the CCS, and it seems a no-brainer to keep the games in the smaller (but far more suitable) stadium.

Success also creates money, and having made a profit of just £20,000 last year, now the FAW return home from France with £14.5 million in their back pocket. What is pivotal now is for this money to be reinvested not just in the national team, but all age groups of the national set-up and in coaching and grassroots football.

In 2014, Wales had 277 A-licence coaches and 66 Pro-licence coaches; with the money earned from these Euro exploits, the ability to roll out even more schemes to engage those wanting to coach can only be a good thing, while creating the right environment for youngsters to learn the fundamentals of the game should also be high on the list of priorities.

The achievements of the team in France are a foundation on which so much can be built, both on and off the field, and the future of Welsh football is brighter than it's ever been.

Often our national football team in this country feels marginalised by the achievements of those who play with the oval ball, their Grand Slams and Six Nations titles overshadowing a team who have all too often battled bravely but come up short.

The achievements of this group of players will go a long way to even up that disparity - only the coldest of hearts would fail to be moved and engaged by what this squad has accomplished in France, and most excitingly of all, the potential of what it can achieve in the future.

We've been Together, Stronger throughout this entire campaign - let's hope we stay that way and look towards a brighter future for
